Coroner Francis J. McCordle is withholding his verdict, pending the outcome of an investigation by the district attorney's office, it was reported today. (Anner photo)

Harry Atkins, 53, Dies In Abeel Street Mishap

Investigation of an Abeel Street accident which resulted in a death Saturday was still under way today.

Harry Atkins, 53, of 83 Broadway, riding in a car driven by Leslie Williams, 50, of Port Ewen, was pronounced dead on arrival at Kingston Hospital of injuries suffered when the car hit a pole on Abeel near Hone Street Saturday afternoon.

Coroner Francis J. McCordle, who is withholding his verdict, pending the outcome of an investigation by the district attorney's office, said an autopsy showed that Atkins died of a laceration of the left heart ventricle.

Point System Is Stiffer for Those Who Cause Danger

ALBANY (AP)—The state is stiffening its "point system" in a move to reduce traffic deaths by forcing dangerous drivers off the highways.

The Motor Vehicle Bureau will tag a serious traffic offender with three points instead of the present maximum of two.

The point system—a certain number of points for each traffic offense—has been in effect since 1954. It can result in either suspension or revocation of a driver's license.

Made by Committee
The revised scale was one of the recommendations made by Gov. Harriman's traffic safety committee in a report made public yesterday.

The governor ordered the bureau and other agencies to put the changes into effect immediately. However, some of the recommendations will require legislation.

The motor vehicle commissioner, Joseph P. Kelly, indicated that the stiffer point plan could not be used before Jan. 1, since time is needed to acquaint drivers with the new rules.

Must Not Drive

Harriman said experts had found that "one of the most important elements in a total program to cut down the tragic toll on our highways is to keep dangerous drivers off the road."

The state's suspension and revocation system now works like this:

A driver's license is revoked automatically for conviction of drunken driving, leaving the scene of an accident, and homicide, assault or criminal negligence involving operation of a motor vehicle. Out of 10 state convictions count two, except for hit-and-run.

Automatic revocation also follows three convictions within 18 months.

Police Chief Is Heart Victim at Own Testimonial

NEW ROCHELLE (AP)—Police Chief Alfred Brueckner, 56, died of a coronary attack last night while attending a dinner in his honor.

Brueckner was scheduled to receive the annual award for civic achievement from the New Rochelle Elks Club at the Glen Island Casino.

The chief was on the dais listening to an address by Westchester County Dist. Atty. Joseph F. Glaglieri when he collapsed. He was taken into an anteroom where he was pronounced dead.

Four hundred persons were in the audience. Among them was the chief's wife, Evelyn; his son, Donald; his father, Edwin; and a brother, Edwin Jr.

Sputnik Is Traveling In Silence

Batteries Run Out, Will Launch Other

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia's pioneer earth satellite spun silently in space today as world scientists redoubled efforts to track the orbiting sphere by visual and other means.

Radio Moscow announced meanwhile that still another satellite—this one carrying a space traveling dog named Kudryavka—will be launched in the near future.

Sputnik No. 1's beeps and buzzes died away on Saturday, three weeks after the first man-made moonlet was launched into its 18,000-mile-an-hour orbit around the world.

Soviet scientists confirmed that the satellite's batteries finally had failed, and asked scientists of other nations to aid in tracking the now-voiceless sphere.

Asks Tracer Aid
Scientists at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory at Cambridge, Mass., sent to Moscow last night their own computations on the orbits of both Sputnik and its launching rocket, also still circling in space.

Expect to Finish Sawkill Bridge By December 10th

The new $104,000 Sawkill bridge now under construction at the Sawkill Church bridge site will be completed in the early part of December, weather permitting, according to County Superintendent of Highways Roland H. Green.

The bridge has been of great concern to residents of the area who have sent in letters to Supervisor Leo Stauble of the Town of Kingston asking why a temporary bridge had not been erected.

Supervisor Stauble told The Freeman this morning that the difficulty in securing all essential right of ways has halted attempts to build a temporary bridge for use until the new one is constructed.

However, he said a foot bridge is now completed and in use on the northeast side of the new abutments.

Superintendent Green said the new bridge should be completed about December 10 depending on the weather and delivery of steel. If the steel arrives the first week of November, the bridge should be completed on schedule, December 10, he said.

Hunted Escapee Obeys His Mother, Gives Up to Police

LAVA HOT SPRINGS, Idaho (AP)—A saint-or-sinner convict who spread a trail of terror across two states slept peacefully in a jail cell today after his mother, in a long-distance telephone call, convinced him to surrender.

Willard Arthur Brown, 23, gave up to police without resistance yesterday after told to do so by his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Wilczek, from Jamestown, N. Y.

But before giving up, Brown had held seven persons, including a woman and three children, as hostages. He had escaped from the Montana State Prison at Deer Lodge Saturday in a state car after getting outside on a ruse.

Says He's Gentle
Mrs. Wilczek pictured her son by a former marriage as a gentle and lonesome man who escaped from prison so he could be with her. A man in a ranchhouse where Brown holed up called him "a good boy" and asked assurances from officers that Brown wouldn't be molested.

But a woman kidnapped at gunpoint by Brown said he raped her. And two Canadians abducted by Brown said he robbed them and threatened to kill them and swore he wouldn't be taken alive.

Obeys Mother
Brown's surrender at the isolated ranchhouse two miles west of this sulphur water spa ended a full-scale manhunt that centered in Idaho but involved officers in Utah, Montana and Wyoming.

Surrounded by police, Brown released three children whose ages ranged from 1 to 7 and then asked permission to call his mother. Police agreed. Mrs. Wilczek told Brown to give up and he said "Okay, mother, I'll do it for you."

Brown walked out into the light drizzle, put his 30-30 rifle down on the muddy ground, and surrendered.

Gets First Sleep

He was taken 36 miles northwest to the Bannock County jail in Pocatello, where police pondered today what charges should be filed, and where, Brown, meanwhile, got his first sleep of a 26-hour period in which he:

Escaped from the prison.

Counsel Says City Need Not Change Vet Tax Policy Now

An opinion released today by Corporation Counsel James J. Kilmer holds that the city at this time does not need to change its veterans' tax exemption policy to conform with a recently announced opinion that, if applied, would cost veterans, and others, more in annual taxes.

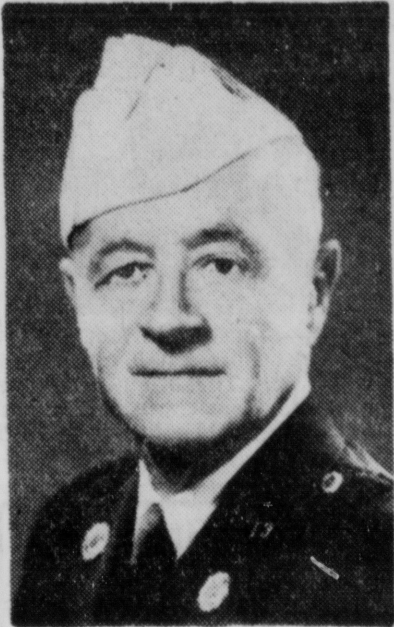

The opinion, was given on request on an inquiry by City Assessor S. Maxwell Taylor, made through Robert J. Flynn, of the assessor's office, after receipt here of the opinion on exemptions given by Robert F. Kilmer, counsel to the State Board of Equalization and Assessment.

Kilmer's Opinion
Kilmer's opinion holds that "some property tax exemptions" (including those for veterans, volunteer firemen and clergy) now violate legal requirements for equality, because they are not based on full valuation.

The Kilmer opinion, Abernethy holds, is not a directive but merely an opinion of the board of equalization and assessment.

"The policy of your office with regard to veterans' and other exemptions," Abernethy said, (Continued on Page 8, Col. 6)

JOHN F. KEENAN

State Commander Of Legion Coming To Ulster Nov. 7

Ulster County American Legion will hold its annual state commander's dinner Thursday, Nov. 7, it was announced today, by G. Knute Beichert, Town of Esopus Post 1298, who is chairman of arrangements.

The dinner, honoring Commander John F. Keenan, Department of New York, will be at The Oddo House, Routes 44-55, Highland, and is expected to draw a large turnout of American Legionnaires and their wives to hear reports and program plans for the ensuing year.

Forceful Speaker

A World War I veteran, Keenan's 34 years as a career man in New York court work has furnished him with a background as a fine public speaker, according to County Commander George Flockhart of Wallkill.

Although the deadline for reservations is Saturday, Nov. 2, Chairman Beichert is urging all post commanders for whom it is possible to make returns at the county meeting tonight in Ellenville.

Seating Arrangement

Posts with the largest delegations will be seated in that order, Beichert said, and he is asking commanders for lists of those signed to attend at the time returns are made.

"This procedure is so each person with a ticket will be assured of his or her reservations," he stressed.

Indications are that every Legion Post and Auxiliary Unit in the county will be represented, he advised.

Active Many Years

Commander Keenan has been an active Legionnaire since he joined Edward M. McKee Post 131 of Whitestone, which he served as treasurer and commander. He was a delegate to the County of Queens for 23 years, was elected vice commander three times and became county commander in 1938.

In 1944, he became department vice commander, and in that job he gained a broad view of Legion affairs in the state and an excellent background for his present post.

His World War I service was with the First Battalion Naval Militia, New York, and later in the U. S. Navy until 1919.

During World War II he was a lieutenant colonel of the New York City Patrol Corps.

On Security Commission

A member of the National Civil Defense Committee for several years, he is presently serving as vice chairman of the National Security Commission.

A native New Yorker, he started out in court work 34 years ago as a probation officer in magistrates courts. Later he became probation officer in

Flu Situation in City Is Reported Improved

Marked improvement in the flu situation was reported in the city of Kingston and throughout the county this morning.

In most schools there was a sharp decline in absenteeism as compared to last week.

In Kingston schools, for example, the percentage of absenteeism dropped from 30.8 to 16.1.

All parochial schools in the city of Kingston were open this morning, with sharp declines in absenteeism.

Boiler Not Working

The Lake Katrine School was the only school reported closed today—but not for absenteeism. Its boiler is not functioning properly. No official count of absences is possible, of course.

Dr. Dudley Hargrave, Ulster county health commissioner, expressed the belief today that the "long lay-off" over the weekend had helped the situation. There was no school last Friday because of teachers' conferences.

He said it was possible that the "wave of cases" which swept the area during the past two weeks had "gotten a good percentage of susceptibles." It is possible that outbreaks in the future may be "sporadic," he

600 Garments Are Taken From Store

A loss, which might amount to thousands of dollars in merchandise after inventory, was reported today by Herman G. Rafalowsky, clothier of 71 Albany Avenue, as the result of a weekend burglary.

Entrance was gained by breaking through a rear section of wall, which might have been pushed in with the aid of a heavy vehicle, police said.

Various Items
A first look at conditions in the store this morning, Rafalowsky said, indicated that at least 600 garments were missing. These included suits, topcoats, overcoats, trousers and other items.

The missing garments were taken mostly from two far corners of the store which are not visible from the street.

Neighborhood Chest Drive Report Wednesday at 7:30

The first report meeting of the neighborhood division of the Kingston Area Community Chest will be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Jewish Community Center, 265 Wall street, it was reported today by John R. Warren, executive director.

He said that each soliciting division and each ward and township in the division would be called upon for a brief verbal report telling:

1. Total pledges turned in to date.

2. Estimate of work remaining to be done.

3. Steps being taken to complete the job.

Peter J. Kowalenko, chairman of the division, urged that each division of the neighborhood drive be represented. If the captain of a particular section of the neighborhood canvass is unable to attend he is asked to arrange for a substitute to represent him.

He said the meeting would offer workers an opportunity to meet fellow workers in the drive, to hear how "your drive is progressing" and to share refreshments consisting of coffee and cookies.

Warren reported today that the Red Feather campaign for $118,500 for 10 member agencies had reached $54,124.60—not quite the halfway mark.

He broke it down as follows: Advance gift, $15,580; industry, $21,905; commercial, $10,799; professional, $4,279; government, $205; schools, $1,216; and neighborhood, $138.75.

'Keep Up Good Work'
"But, it actually happened, and we, the undersigned Board of Police Commissioners of the City of Kingston, commend those men, who participated in the chase and capture, for their alertness, speed and proficiency. Keep up the good work."

The letter was signed by Mayor Frederick H. Stang, the board's president, and commissioners Willis R. Locke, Robert S. Evory and Lawrence A. Quilty.

The incident referred to was the capture Oct. 24 of Robert J. Warren, 27, of 457 Park Drive, Boston, who said he had been employed as a dishwasher at the Nevele Country Club, Ellenville, and was on his way to Albany.

Police said he had taken the car of William R. Gould, Hamilton Street, Port Ewen, from in front of Orthmann's Sanitarium, 256 Washington Avenue. Officers Bernard Fowler and Albert Hutton, spotted him in the car near the Governor Clinton Hotel and chased him to the Lake Katrine area, the report said.

Warren waived examination last Friday before City Judge Raymond J. Mino on a second degree grand larceny charge, and was held to await grand jury action.

Kiwanis Kapers Are Scheduled at 8 P.M.

Al Capp's famous comic strip "Li'l Abner," which appears in The Freeman, will serve as the theme of the annual Kiwanis Kapers tonight and Tuesday at 8 o'clock at Kingston High School auditorium.

Members of Kingston Kiwanis Club will play the parts of the well known characters in the comic feature. Tickets will be on sale at the door.

Harriman Asks Source of More Money for Schools

SYRACUSE (AP)—Gov. Harriman said today that those who suggested increased state aid to schools should also suggest where the state might find the money.

"These two questions must be linked together in any consideration of the subject," the governor said at the annual convention of the New York State School Boards Assn.

$176 Million Hike

Harriman said state assistance to schools had been increased by 176 million dollars in the last three years—"the greatest increase in the history of the state"—and some 70 per cent. has gone to schools outside of New York City.

The New York State Educational Conference Board recently recommended an increase of about 125 million a year in state aid to schools. The board is made up of nine educational organizations in the state.

Harriman said recommendations for increased aid gave as a reason "the heavy burden of real estate taxes."

37 PC on Schools

He said, "certainly consideration might well be given to other forms of local taxation which would be more equitable. No one (Continued on Page 6, Col. 5)

Police Praised For Good Work; No Appointments

The Board of Police Commissioners, meeting Saturday, to interview candidates for appointment as special patrolmen, commended the police department for its recent quick work in catching a man who was allegedly headed out of the city in a stolen car.

Decision on the appointments was deferred after seven men were interviewed, but appointments were due to be made at an early date.

Letter to Department

The board, in commending the police for their recent efficient action, sent the following letter, addressed "To the Men of the Kingston Police Department":

"The prompt and efficient action by members of the Kingston Police Department Thursday afternoon resulted in the capture of a man, who was fleeing the city in a stolen car."

"From the instant the call was received at headquarters that a car had been stolen from in front of Orthmann's Sanitarium, to the capture of the man on Albany Avenue Extension, by the police, the account of the incident reads like a TV script."

"The American people are not children," Graham declared. "They want the facts straight from the shoulder. The President is the only person with the prestige and confidence of the American people to call this nation into a period of sacrifice, renewed dedication and a return to God."

The 38-year-old evangelist spoke at a service climaxed "Visitation Week," an annual event of the Protestant Council of Churches of New York City.

This year's visitation program concentrated on the 56,676 persons who made "Decisions for Christ" at Graham's New York crusade last summer. A total of 1,284 went forward yesterday.

Graham reviewed the perils facing the nation and said "a congressman" had told him that "there is a strong element within the Kremlin that believes that Russia should attack the United States within the next two years."

He said it would be "most unfortunate" if Eisenhower should say anything in forthcoming speeches that would give the American people a "false sense of security."

Graham did not identify the congressman.

Military Is Taking Back Seat War Hero Likely To Get Other Job

MOSCOW (AP)—Westerners expressed belief today Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov has been downgraded in a Communist Party move to assert its full authority over the armed forces. Some observers said Zhukov might be shunted off to a political job, leaving Nikita Khrushchev as the unchallenged big boss of Soviet domestic and foreign policies.

Shunted Aside

The curt announcement Saturday that Zhukov was "relieved" as defense minister created the impression among western observers in Moscow that the Russian war hero was being shunted aside, whatever new position he might get.

Much speculation centered about the possibility that Zhukov would turn up soon in the post of a first deputy premier. While this would be a respectfully high government position, it would give Zhukov little real authority.

May Be Deputy

Correspondents found it easy to clear with the censors a prediction that Zhukov would be divorced from the armed forces and be appointed a first deputy premier.

Another speculative gambit passed by Moscow censors is that the post of Russian ambassador to Washington might be an ideal post for Zhukov. Howard Norton of the Baltimore Sun cabled this.

(Moscow censors sometimes use their authority to amend correspondents' cables as well as to delete material. Censors may pass speculation when they apparently have information to indicate it is right.)

The Soviet government formerly had a number of "first deputy premiers," but at the moment it has none. Two of the three men fired from their high posts in the "anti-party" group—last summer held that rank in the government—V. W. Molotov and L. M. Kaganovich, Georgi Malenkov was only a deputy premier—not a first deputy.

Pravda, official newspaper of the Communist Party, sharply reminded its readers today that the unity of the Communist Party must be considered "indestructible."

The title of the editorial, "Indestructible Unity of Party and People," was exactly the same as the editorial used last June to explain to party readers the reasons for the anti-party purge.

This editorial was the nearest approach to official comment on the replacement of Zhukov by Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky.

The announcement and the editorial comment left western diplomats here with the impression that regardless of whether Zhukov gets another high-sounding job, party boss Khrushchev's authority in the Kremlin has been strongly nailed down.

Graham Says War Greater Threat Now Than Ever
NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Graham says the danger of war is greater now "than at any other time in the past 10 years."

The evangelist told a religious rally of 40,000 persons at the Polo Grounds yesterday that President Eisenhower should "tell the American people exactly where we stand."

"The American people are not children," Graham declared. "They want the facts straight from the shoulder. The President is the only person with the prestige and confidence of the American people to call this nation into a period of sacrifice, renewed dedication and a return to God."

The 38-year-old evangelist spoke at a service climaxed "Visitation Week," an annual event of the Protestant Council of Churches of New York City.

Funeral services will be held from William E. White Funeral Home, Rhinebeck Wednesday at 2 p. m. Burial in Rhinebeck Cemetery. Friends may call after 7 o'clock this evening and Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Shokan
SHOKAN—Mr. and Mrs. Elmond Allison of Kingston suburbs were recent callers in the hub of the reservoir country. They were accompanied by Mrs. Allison's cousin, Edna Miller of Kingston.

The electric line along the Ridge Road has been extended from the Owen Kenworthy bungalow to the Kathryn Loos summer home, or about half way between Route 28 junction and that of the county road at Krott's Corner.

Mrs. Lawrence Baldwin and small daughter of the Krumville Road were village center callers Thursday. They were accompanied by Mrs. Baldwin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips of Carlisle Place, L. I. The Baldwins moved to Olive from Flatbush road earlier in the year.

Catherine McShane has rented one of the Ruckert apartments in the village center. Formerly a member of the Alonzo Haver household for several years, Miss McShane reportedly has secured employment at the Benedictine Hospital.

Having a birthday August 31 is Mrs. Burr Elmdorf, native of the Ashokan area. The former Laura Moe has four grown children and is active in Methodist Church work.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. MacDonald of Philmont, Columbia County, were in town Wednesday. The couple brought along an old cutter with a folding top, first of its kind to be seen here, for the local museum.

Anna Trump, 86-year-old mother of Mrs. Leonard Ruckert, is reported convalescent at Bethany Hospital, Brooklyn, following a major operation two weeks ago.

RAILROADER 50 YEARS, RETIRES—Alanson H. Short, West Shore agent at Port Ewen for 49 years, finishes up a half century of railroad work at the station closes October 25. The other year was spent on the old Ontario and Western road. Port Ewen and Ulster Park stations were ordered closed following public hearings held by the Public Service Commission.

Anastasia Buried Today, 30 Attend Brief Ceremony
NEW YORK (AP)—Albert Anastasia, gangland's slain high executioner, was buried today with brief ceremony and small pomp. About 30 persons, including the sobbing widow, Elsa, and his brothers, "Tough Tony" and Gerardo, attended a 10-minute service in a Brooklyn funeral home.

Four limousines accompanied the hearse carrying the plain mahogany-colored casket to Greenwood Cemetery.

Only Dozen Wreaths
Only a dozen floral wreaths were taken along. About 70 were left at another branch of the funeral home.

Although he was a Roman Catholic, there was no mass for Anastasia and interment was in non-consecrated ground.

Reporters and photographers were barred from the 125-seat chapel during the service. A spokesman for the Andrew Torregrossa & Sons home said that the family asked the press be kept out.

At the entrance an unidentified man turned back the press with the comment "why don't you mind your own business?"

Outside the chapel, several hundred spectators crowded the sidewalk and watched quietly.

Search Continues
As the 55-year-old hoodlum was put to rest, police continued their search for the two gunmen who shot Anastasia dead as he sat in a hotel barber shop chair here Friday.

Yesterday, Anthony Coppola, Anastasia's paunchy chauffeur-bodyguard, was held in $50,000 bail on a vagrancy charge.

Police described him as uncooperative. They are trying to find out why he was not with Anastasia when the mobster was killed.

Modena
MODENA—Members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Modena Methodist Church, planning to serve a turkey supper in the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall Wednesday evening, Nov. 13, met at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Lester I. Arnold Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Van Sickle, who were married recently at the Marlboro First Presbyterian Church, will reside in Modena, in the house which was purchased recently from Patrick Moran.

Siam Captured, Breaks Loose for Frigid Woods

CATSKILL (AP)—Siam, the foot-loose elephant, was captured today but broke free again.

It was her 13th day of freedom in the Catskill woodlands.

The 13-year-old, 2½-ton circus elephant was hooked in the ear and roped by Alfred Vidbel, one of her trainers. She snapped the rope crashed into the rear of a State Police car and fled into the woods at South Durham, a Catskill mountain hamlet northwest of here.

She was about seven miles, direct line, from her winter quarters at Mitchell Hollow.

She ran away from the Mitchell Hollow farm Oct. 16 when horses frightened her.

Siam had spent most of her freedom atop or near the summit of mountains. She ventured into civilization early today for the first time.

At approximately 4 a. m., Siam breezed up to a breezeway at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guenther Ohm on Route 23, at South Durham.

The Ohms reported they heard a loud noise outside. When Mr. Ohm was getting dressed to investigate, Mrs. Ohm turned on the porch light, opened the door and met Siam face to face.

After a momentary look, Siam retreated into a peach orchard on the farm of George Naugle.

Before arousing the Ohms, Siam had damaged the breezeway between the house and garage and crushed several gutter pipes that had been lying on the ground.

Earlier, a motorist had spotted Siam lumbering along Route 23 near the Ohms' house.

Vidbel and his wife rushed to the area and had a van, bearing another elephant, on hand, in hopes of luring Siam into it.

Siam spent the night in temperatures that dipped to the mid 20s. Vidbel was quoted as saying he did not believe the cold bothers Siam because, if it did, she would not be roaming in open country.

Reuter Staff Is Checking Data in New York Today

State Commissioner of Investigation Arthur L. Reuter and his staff, assigned by Governor Harriman to make a preliminary investigation of police corruption in the City of Kingston, were conferring in New York City today evaluating material collected to date in the probe.

This material consists of Grand Jury minutes, the testimony of a number of witnesses, various exhibits etc.

Reuter told The Freeman he would be at the State Armory at Kingston about 9 a. m. Tuesday to continue questioning witnesses.

Some of his staff are working in the field, he said. Some witnesses are reportedly being questioned away from the armory.

5 Cars Involved In Ulster Mishap
Five cars were in collision early today on the Neighborhood road 100 feet west of the Sawkill road, according to Kingston state police.

Four of the cars were stopped behind a bus and the fifth smashed into them from behind, according to Trooper George Gaine who investigated.

The fifth car, operated by Edward Krause, 20, of Woodstock, struck the fourth car, a 1956 sedan operated by Frank Will, 24, of Stone Ridge, driving it into a third car, a 1957 station wagon operated by Paul Nelson, 25, RD 4, Box 550, Kingston.

The Nelson car was pushed into a 1941 sedan operated by Thomas McGraw Jr., 29, of RD 2, Box 345, Kingston, which in turn, was pushed into a 1955 station wagon operated by William Sutton, 31, of Woodstock.

No injuries were reported. There were no arrests.

The bus and cars were proceeding toward IBM at the time, it was reported.

The Krause car had to be towed away by wrecker.

Green Not Held For Grand Jury In Knifing Case

George Green, 28, of 70 Jefferson Street, Poughkeepsie, charged with second degree assault after a downtown fight Oct. 6, was not held for the grand jury, as the result of a decision given by City Judge Raymond J. Mine today.

The judge, giving his decision, which was reserved after hearing Oct. 18, said that testimony as to what had actually happened during the fight on lower Broadway, was conflicting and inconclusive.

Green, who was picked up by police in Gardiner, after the reported fight, was charged with using a knife in the fight. Police said he had cut Donald Snyder, 31, of 28 East Union Street, and Snyder's brother, Therese, who attempted to stop the fight.

New Radio Station Is Dedicated by Pope Pius

Soviets Propose New Plan for Disarmament

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed today that the U. N. replace its present disarmament commission with an 82 nation body which would remain in permanent session.

The Soviet proposal would abolish both the 12-nation disarmament commission and the five-nation subcommittee which has been carrying on private talks since 1954.

It also would open the disarmament debate to the public, except in specific cases in which private talks were agreed upon.

Increase Settlement Efforts in Milk Dispute

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators today intensified efforts to settle the labor dispute which threatens to tie up distribution of milk in a three-state metropolitan area after 4 p. m. tomorrow.

Representatives of the greater New York and northern New Jersey Milk Dealers Committee and five locals of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters divided their full teams into subcommittees in the hope of making speedier bargaining progress, Irving R. Wisch, chairman of the employer group, said.

First Ulster Masses Are Attended by 508

A total of 508 people attended two Masses Sunday for the beginning of St. Philomena's parish in the Town of Ulster, it was announced today by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph F. Connolly, who said there were 65 at Holy Communion.

Msgr. Connolly, formerly of New York, who has charge of organization of St. Philomena's, was celebrant of the Masses held in the Cook building, formerly occupied by Hercules Powder Co. on East Chester Street By-Pass, near the junction of 9W highway.

The new Roman Catholic parish is being formed to accommodate the growing number of residents in the Town of Ulster area of that religious faith.

Stone Ridge Man Is Fined for Gambling

Roger Bradley, 53, of Stone Ridge, was arrested on a charge of common gambling on Sunday by Ellenville state police.

Trooper William Shurter reported that the arrest involved possession of a punchboard.

Bradley was arraigned before Justice of the Peace John Smith of High Falls, entered a plea of guilty, and was fined $10 suspended.

The punchboard and 21 boxes of candy were seized in Bradley's store on Route 209, Stone Ridge, as evidence. The candy was sold, the proceeds going to the Ulster County Treasurer.

Monaghan Brief Shows Teamster Ties With USTA

NEW YORK (AP) — James M. Landis, appointed by Gov. Harriman to study the feud between the U. S. Trotting Assn. and State Racing Commissioner George P. Monaghan, had Monaghan's side of the story today in a 30-page brief.

Monaghan charged the USTA had upheld two men barred by the state commission because of "unsavory backgrounds and extensive police records."

One of the men, Owen Bert Brennan, is an aide of Teamsters President James Hoffa, and Monaghan charged he invoked the fifth amendment when questioned by the Senate Labor Rackets Committee about a loan of union funds to a race track near Detroit.

Monaghan also charged that Brennan received USTA support as a director even after his record was made known, and has continued to race his horses outside New York State under USTA license.

The other man, Edward T. Dougherty, a teamsters official in New Jersey, was denied a license in New York, and was upheld in his attempts for reinstatement by USTA President Lawrence B. Shephard, Monaghan charged.

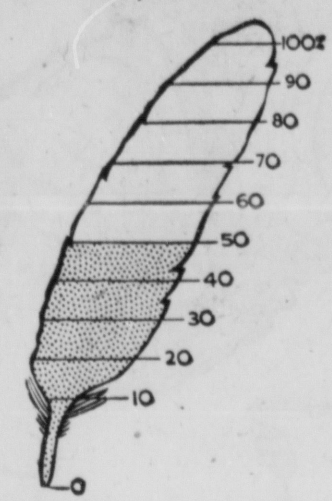

Monaghan also said both William Weisman and James O. Mara were exonerated of all misconduct charges after presentation of "new evidence." Mara is a director of the Genesee-Monroe Racing Assn. and Weisman had a personal investment in the same outfit.

Report Missile Scores Four Hits

BUFFALO (AP) — The Bell Aircraft Corp. says its guided missile, the Rascal, an air-to-surface weapon capable of carrying a nuclear warhead, has scored four direct hits in its latest four firings.

The company said the rocket powered missiles dropped from a B-47 bomber and were guided to a target only 3,000 feet in diameter.

Distance Not Disclosed

One Air Force officer described the most recent test at the Air Force missile development center in New Mexico Oct. 16 as "right in the pickle barrel."

The distance from the launching point to the target was not disclosed, but unofficial reports say the Rascals are designed to be released from airplanes 75 to 100 miles from the targets.

The joint announcement yesterday by Bell and the Air Force was the first official word on the missile's performance.

Bell said the Rascal is designed to be launched miles from its target without exposing the bomber or its crew to heavy ground and air defenses.

Guided by Operator

The 32-foot long missile is slung under a B-47, released in flight and then guided to its target by an operator in the airplane.

Bell said the Rascal will be put into operation by the Strategic Air Command of the Air Force after tests are completed this week.

Two Air Force contracts totaling $22,040,407 for the Rascals were awarded to Bell last January. The project was begun in 1951.

Urges Strawberry Beds Be Covered

GENEVA—Winter cover for strawberry beds is a "must" to protect the plants, according to Cornell small fruit specialist George L. Slate at the Experiment Station here.

"Winter cover, or mulching, helps prevent the plants from heaving out of the ground due to frost action and protects them from severe cold," he said.

Wait for Frost

The protective cover should be by December 1, but not before temperatures drop below 20 degrees and not until the plants have been subjected to several hard frosts.

Various mulching materials have been tried in the station plantings. Straw and marsh hay have given good results when used to a depth of three to four inches. Sawdust applied to a depth of two to three inches has also proved satisfactory. On soils of low fertility, however, it is advisable to add a nitrogen fertilizer in the spring where sawdust has been used, advised Slate.

For home plantings a covering of leaves will give satisfactory protection, providing the leaves are used only to a depth of two to three inches. Too heavy an application may lead to matting of the leaves and smothering of the plants.

"When the strawberries start to grow in the spring, part of the mulch should be removed and placed between the rows," says Professor Slate. "There it will discourage weed growth, will keep the soil surface cool and moist, and will help keep the berries clean."

GLF Cooperative Names Directors

SYRACUSE — Stockholders elected seven directors of Cooperative GLF Exchange, during the 37th annual stockholders meeting, here Friday.

All incumbent, they are: J. C. Corwith, Walter Mill; Clifford E. Snyder, Pittstown, N. J.; Clayton G. White, Stow; Harold L. Creal, Homer; Milburn C. Huntley, West Winfield; Roy S. Bowen, Wellsboro, Pa., and Harold G. Soper, Geneva. They will serve two-year terms.

Corwith, GLF president, was nominated by New York Grange, Soper by New York Farm Bureau. The others were nominated by GLF stockholders at regional meetings.

Over 117,000 GLF stockholders in New York, New Jersey and northern Pennsylvania were eligible to vote for directors of the farm purchasing cooperative.

Faces Questioning On Unionizing Drive at Sears

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the key men who helped Sears, Roebuck & Co. resist a 1953 unionizing drive faced senatorial questioning today about the tactics used.

The special Senate committee investigating improper labor-management activities summoned James T. Guffey, of the Nathan W. Shefferman representatives assigned to assist Sears in combatting efforts of the retail clerks union to organize its Boston area stores.

Kennedy Description

Shefferman, a Chicago labor relations consultant, heads a firm known as Labor Relations Associates. He has been described by committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy as a specialist in "union busting."

A top Sears executive, W. W. Tudor, vice president in charge of personnel and employee relations, testified last Friday that mistakes he described as inexcusable and disgraceful were made in defeating the organization efforts of the retail clerks in the Boston area.

He blamed them on Shefferman's firms and "certain personnel" of the big mail order company and told the senators that "a repetition of these mistakes will not be tolerated by this company."

Proud of Benefits

Tudor described the tactics employed as "glaring exceptions" to Sears' overall handling of its relations with its 205,000 employees. He said that Sears pays wages and provides other benefits of which it is very proud.

Guffey's name was brought in to the hearings Friday, with testimony that he attempted to dissuade Sears' employees from joining the retail clerks union.

NEW YORK (AP) — Janet Blair, George Gaynes and Allyn McLerie are appearing in the London production of "Bells Are Ringing."

The musical opens in mid-November.

Miss Blair has the role created on Broadway by Judy Holliday, and Gaynes is in the Sydney Chaplin part, an assignment for which he auditioned when the show was originally cast.

Ulster Park Man Named to Head Motor Court Unit

NIAGARA FALLS—Sol Rosenthal, proprietor of the Vineyard Lodge and Friendly Acres Motel at Ulster Park, was elected president of the New York Motor Court Association, Inc., for next year, it was announced today.

Rosenthal had been acting as president since the death in August of James C. Erskine, of Madison.

Others Named

The election took place in Niagara Falls at the Eighth Annual Convention of the Association. Other officers elected were: A. B. Davis, Portageville, first vice-president; Charles Dispenza, Cohocton, second vice-president; Everett Rhodes, Niagara Falls, secretary; and C. Eldon Nary, Newark, treasurer.

Rosenthal is candidate for the office of councilman in the town of Esopus. He had been first vice-president of the motor court association before Mr. Erskine's death.

The World Today

Says Soviet Attitude Is Unchanged by Zhukov Case

By ED CREAGH
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Zhukov may come and go. But the facts of the world situation go on. Maybe not forever, but at least long enough to make the replacement of a Soviet defense minister not much more than a ripple in a whirlpool.

It is tempting to speculate, of course.

Some Speculation

Is Marshal Georgi Zhukov simply getting the bounce, or is he being kicked upstairs?

Is he, maybe, being groomed for the top job? Or for a special "Be nice to America" assignment, in view of his onetime close association with President Eisenhower?

Or should he break out his wartime fur-lined boots and parka for a spell in Siberia because he once was on cordial personal terms with a fellow general who became President of the United States?

The simple answer is that nobody in the west seems to know. But there is no reason to believe Soviet intentions toward the rest of the world have been changed by Zhukov's being "relieved" of his duties, as the Soviet government puts it, any more than U. S. foreign policy was affected by the voluntary retirement of Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense.

Look at Future

The broad outlines of the immediate future should be plain to anybody who reads the newspapers.

1. Russia is stirring up trouble, maybe even a war, in the Middle East. The Russians feel full of beans over the success of their Sputnik and the progress of their long-range missile program. They may or may not be calmed down by the recently announced power of American missiles — which, chances are, would not yet have been announced if the Russians hadn't launched the first satellite. 2. On both sides of the Iron Curtain a defensive beefing-up is being attempted. Eisenhower confers with Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan on ways to strengthen the western alliance. The President may go to Paris in December to lend his personal prestige to the buildup effort. China's Mao Tse-tung definitely is going to Moscow next month for a talk with the Kremlin brass. And all signs point to a rebirth of the Cominform, the old Red mutual aid association, or something very like it.

Clouds Gather

So, Zhukov or no Zhukov, the mushroom-shaped clouds gather.

Almost everybody — even, it sometimes appears, the men in the Kremlin — hopes they can be broken up. So far as the Middle East goes, the next two weeks may tell the story. The blowup which the Russians have been touting, and fomenting, is supposed to take place soon after yesterday's Turkish election. So far there seems no sign of actual warfare. But the United States, Britain and Turkey are set for maneuvers along the Turkish coast just in case.

Bell Earnings

BUFFALO (AP) — The Bell Aircraft Corp. today reported earnings of $3,089,271 or $1.16 a share for the first nine months of this year, a decline from $4,489,053 or $1.73 a share in the same period last year.

Sales declined from $156,197,799 in the first nine months last year to $151,366,136 this year.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON
WORTH THE FIGHT

The strongest and most lasting drive to reduce Federal spending in many years really paid off—not enough, but certainly worth the fight.

The most reliable figure I've seen is that the budget was cut 3.3 billion $s—net. This estimate comes from the Council of State Chambers of Commerce which watches Federal finances closely.

Leaving out the permanent and non-reducible items, mainly interest on the public debt, this cut is 5.2% of the President's revised requests.

This is not to be sneezed at. If we can keep up steam, it should in time cut taxes by a similar per cent.

Could you use a 5% cut in the taxes you pay Uncle?

Unfortunately, the cut in appropriations will not necessarily reduce Uncle's wild spending this year by the same amount. This is due to the fact that Uncle can use carry-over appropriations of previous years, and such like snafus.

But Uncle's liberal spenders have taken a licking. They've finally knocked their noggin against the stone wall of popular resentment, which no Congressman will mess with.

The House cut Uncle's demands for your money in every one of the 16 appropriation bills, and the Senate in all but 1 of the 16.

Congratulations, too, to the Hoover Commission, Senator Byrd and all the brave lads who stayed on duty while the rest of us went A.W.O.L.

But keep your guns primed, boys. The Squanderbund never quits.

MR. HUTTON

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I wonder how many folks remember when the Strand Bridge in Ponckhockie was torn down. The Kingston Freeman and Journal of Tuesday, Feb. 17, 1920, tells all about it.

Years ago this bridge was used by the old Newark Lime and Cement Co., to run loaded cars of cement from the plant to the dock on Rondout Creek where the cars were emptied into cement barges.

It seems that the greater part of the railroad bridge had been torn down before 1920, but the section that crossed the roadway was left standing until then. The reason it was not torn down before was to retain the right of the cement company to rebuild a bridge across the roadway in case it was ever necessary. When that bridge was used by the cement company, there was a large number of men employed. It said in part: "In those days the Ponckhockie section of the city was a beehive of industry and thousands of pounds of cement were shipped daily." Later the old cement company dock was turned into boatyards and many men were employed there again to build large barges.

No doubt old timers remember Hart's store on Wall Street. It was sold around 1920 and now is known as the Wonderly Co. In the above paper there is a writeup on the death of Griffin A. Hart, age 77, of 186 Fair Street. Mr. Hart was born in Milan, Dutchess County on March 2, 1842. He started his career at the age of 14 as a clerk in a country store at Rhinebeck. At the age of 18 he saw more opportunity in Rondout and began clerking at A. K. Chambers' on the Strand. In 1862 he went to work for J. F. Jennings and Brodhead, where in the early 1920's F. W. Woolworth had their store.

Then came the Civil War, and early in the spring of 1862 he enlisted in the 120th N. Y. State Regiment and fought until the close of the war. Mr. Hart was in the fighting at Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville and was ill at home for a time but returned to his regiment until the close of the war.

Saugerties GOP Town Candidate

PETER M. WILLIAMS

Peter M. Williams, affectionately known as "Pete the farmer," widely known and popular Republican candidate to succeed himself as supervisor for the Town of Saugerties, again offers the citizens of the township his wealth of experience gained in eight years of handling the problems of the Saugerties Township during its greatest expansion in history.

His decisions are always governed by his political creed, "to handle all matters in the most efficient manner, to benefit the greatest number of people."

ery business with the Benson Brothers under the name of Benson Brothers and Hart, which was carried on until 1874, when Mr. Hart became a member of the dry goods firm of Benson, Hart and Hubbard with a store on the side of the present building of the Wonderly Co. item reads. In 1884 the firm name was changed to Benson and Hart and in 1898 became known as G. A. Hart and Co. "The firm reads. In 1884 the firm name until last fall when Mr. Hart sold his interest and the firm became known as the Wonderly Co." Mr. Hart had been behind the counter of the above various enterprises for 51 years, 45 of which were spent in the one store on Wall Street.

August 1866, Mr. Hart married Miss Belle McBride of Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia. She and two children, Mrs. Christopher Snyder and Albert K. Hart survived him in 1920. He was a prominent Mason, member of Mount Horeb Chapter and Rondout Commandery, a member of the GAR and the Kingston Club, so no doubt many old timers remember him well.

Capital City Is Calm in Guatemala

Guatemala (AP) — Guatemala's capital was generally calm again today after installation of a new provisional president and the promise of new presidential elections within four months.

Ending a week of demonstrations, strikes and government changes, congress yesterday named Guillermo Flores Avendano, a 61-year-old retired colonel, to be the nation's chief executive. He was sworn in a few hours later in a hasty ceremony in the presidential palace.

Flores Avendano was second vice president under President Carlos Castillo Armas, who was assassinated last July. The first vice president, Luis Arturo Gonzalez, succeeded Castillo Armas but resigned last week in the turmoil which followed the presidential election Oct. 20.

Driver Is Injured, Another Arrested In Traffic Mishaps

A driver was injured in a traffic mishap at Green and Pearl Streets Saturday afternoon and an arrest followed another at Broadway and Elmendorf Street.

Camille Marie Norman, 39, of 189 Hurley Avenue, reported a head injury after the accident at Green and Pearl streets, and was to be treated by a doctor.

A police report at 3:37 p. m., said a car owned and driven by Palmer Severson Jr., 17, of Schryver Street, Port Ewen, was headed south on Green Street, and the other car, owned by Robert Norman and driven by Camille Marie Norman, was headed east on Pearl Street. The latter car was towed from the scene.

Clarence Moore, 66, of 29 Franklin Street, was charged with driving without a license after the mishap at Broadway and Elmendorf Street, reported at 3:02 p. m. He was fined $20 and given a 10-day suspended jail sentence by City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

Officer Gurnsey Burger Jr., who investigated, said Moore was turning from Broadway into Elmendorf Street, when his car struck the parked car of Michael DeCicco, RD 5, Box 138, Kingston. The Moore car was towed from the scene.

Harold Carney, 40, of Middletown, Conn., who was arrested this morning on a charge of driving while his license was suspended, was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 or spend 10 days in jail. The fine was expected to be paid.

Check Seat Fire

Firemen checked a fire in the front seat of the station wagon of Clifford Cole, 112 Gage Street, in the downtown area this morning. Central and Cornell stations, Union and Cordis hose companies and the Wicks company answered an alarm from Box 2131, Hasbrouck Avenue and Mill Street at 8:10 a. m. A spark from a cigarette was listed as the probable cause.

Leaves Road, Hits Tree

Richard Richards, 20, of 33 Henry Street, was proceeding toward Kingston on Route 28 early Sunday morning when he was reportedly blinded by the headlights of an oncoming vehicle, left the highway and struck a tree. The car had to be towed away. Troopers George Gaine and Richard Finnan investigated for Kingston state police.

New Paltz Man Named Officer Of Cancer Group

JOSEPH P. FOLEY

At the 33rd annual meeting of the New York State Division of the American Cancer Society, held at the Hotel Syracuse October 24, Joseph P. Foley of New Paltz was reappointed vice president of the state organization.

Foley can boast a substantial backlog of service to the American Cancer Society on both local and state levels. Member of the board of directors of the Dutchess County Unit of the Cancer Society for the past 10 years, he has also served as state associate, member-at-large for the executive committee and vice president for the past five years with the state division. He started his activities with the organization in 1946.

Resident of New Paltz

Resident in New Paltz for the past 20 years, Mr. Foley has taken active part in many community drives and civic affairs in general. As administrative assistant to the vice president and general manager at IBM in Poughkeepsie, his activities and interests include Dutchess as well as Ulster County. In Poughkeepsie he is affiliated with a number of organizations and is an active member of the Men's Guild of St. Francis Hospital.

Foley will be one of the five delegates appointed to represent the N. Y. State Division at the national annual meeting of the American Cancer Society October 28-November 1 at the Park Sheraton Hotel, New York City.

Others attending will be: Glenn H. Leak, M. D. of Buffalo, chairman of the executive committee, N. Y. State Division; Executive Director, Alan Stevenson; Past President and 1956 National Representative; Paul R. Gerhardt, M. D. of Albany; and Mrs. Laurence Marble of Ulster, N. Y. State Director of Volunteers and Education.

Sputnik Is

Sputnik and the rocket across the Arctic Circle after a telegram requesting aid came from Moscow. Radio Moscow, taking full advantage of the worldwide excitement over the Soviet technical breakthrough, also introduced the dog designated to ride the second satellite into space.

Barks Into Microphone

The announcer described the animal as "a small, shaggy dog named Kudryavka," already trained to use a space suit and transparent helmet. Kudryavka was introduced to the radio audience, and barked into the microphone. The announcer said Kudryavka has ridden test rockets, equipped with instruments to record her reactions, and has parachuted safely to the ground "several times." She enjoys her work, the announcer said.

Plan Human Travel

The director of the laboratory training the dogs for a space flight, Prof. Alexei Pokrovsky, said the flights are just a beginning of a new era in human travel. "We're working to bring near the time when human travel into space will be a reality, when people in space ships will be able to establish contact with other, distant, hitherto unknown worlds," Pokrovsky said.

Probe Announced

In this country, complaints that the United States is lagging in both the satellite and missile fields brought more congressional grumbling and an announcement of a full-scale investigation. A 13-man house appropriations subcommittee planned hearings beginning Nov. 4 in California, with an emphasis on charges that interservice rivalry has delayed U. S. efforts in both fields. The subcommittee's field hearings are expected to last five days, then resume behind closed doors in Washington.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Coppers rose against the trend of a moderately declining stock market in slow trading early this afternoon.

Pivotal issues were down mostly fractions to a point or so but there were some wider losses. Gains ran from fractions to well over a point.

The market was lower at the start. After an active opening the pace slowed.

Point System Is

months for reckless driving, speeding or misdemeanors under the traffic law.

Point System

A driver is given a hearing and faces suspension or revocation if he piles up six points in two years or eight points in four years. Speeding or reckless driving count two points. Other violations count one. The hearing examiner, subject to the commissioner's review, may lift the license.

Under the new plan, speeding and reckless or dangerous driving convictions are increased to three points. Other dangerous "moving" violations count two points and less serious violations 1 1/2 or 1 point. Some, not related to safety, are removed.

Two-pointers include passing a stopped school bus and running a red light or a stop sign.

New Schedule

The committee also recommended this new schedule for summoning of violators: 8 points in two years, 10 points in three, or 12 points in four.

The other proposals require legislation. One calls for a mandatory 60-day suspension for a second speeding or reckless driving conviction within 12 months, in addition to the present mandatory revocation for these violations in 18 months.

The other would provide for two-year probationary licenses, colored red, for drivers regaining licenses after revocation.

Hunted Escapee

ford, and held her for nine harrowing hours. She charges he raped her at gunpoint. Brown denies it.

Robs Hunters

Forced two Canadian hunters, Gordon Hunter, 21, and Fred Helzel, 20, both of Moosejaw, Sask., to drive him across eastern Idaho, robbed them, then bound them with a torn shirt and drove away. One of the Canadians said Brown told them as he left, "I should shoot you."

Later, fearing police were closing in, Brown holed up in the ranchhouse occupied by J. R. Maughan, 72, Bountiful, Utah, who was baby sitting with his three grandchildren while the parents attended church in Lava Hot Springs.

Gives Up to Police

It was here that police found him, permitted the phone call to be made, then accepted the surprise surrender.

Brown was doing time for stealing a car and violating parole. He had been reported angry because his application for parole was turned down last week. The prison lists his address as Tonawanda, N. Y. He also served time in the federal reformatory in Chillicothe, Ohio.

WILL TO SPECULATE

Speculation has seldom been a theme of this column. But interest in risk-taking is so general that occasionally, I suspect, I should discuss it here.

About 20 years ago an inter-nationally known journalist sold a magazine article for $2,000. It was unexpected income. His daily duties for his newspaper brought him an adequate salary.

When this $2,000 check arrived, he said to an investment counselor: "Now I want to speculate with this money. I wouldn't want to lose it but even if I did, my family would not suffer. If I can, I want to make a lot with it."

He looked into a score of interesting speculative situations. Over a period of a month he critically examined all of them. The value he decided to buy was saturated with risk. It was a $100 par 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock of one of New York City's largest hotels.

Great Risk

The land upon which the hotel was built was owned by the New York Central Railroad. He reasoned thus: This big rail system will see the hotel through the depression. At that time the hotel wasn't making enough to pay taxes, to say nothing of the interest requirements of the outstanding bonds on the hotel and the dividends due on the preferred stock. Risk was great.

This stock was selling at $4 a share. The arrears on each share of preferred were over $100. Therefore, with the par value of the stock $100, over $200 were tied up in each share, and at $4 a share, it was selling for 2 cents on the dollar.

The newspaperman bought 5,000 shares with his unexpected $2,000. The class of the hotel, its location and the railroad's ownership of the land upon which it was built were the factors that caused him to put all of his money in one basket.

He was lucky. The World's Fair came along. And then the United Nations established headquarters at the hotel's doorstep. These events sparked an economic renaissance.

Eventually the hotel was reorganized. Each $100 par 7 per cent cumulative preferred share received 6 shares of common stock. The newspaperman got 3,000 shares.

Bought Blue Chips

And when these shares went to $15 each, he sold 2,000 of them for $30,000, paid capital gains taxes and with this money he bought four blue chips — Du Pont, General Motors, Amrad Oil, and First National Bank of New York. He still owns 1,000 hotel common which is worth $16,000.

He parlayed $2,000 into $100,000. Luck, proper timing, willingness and ability to take big risks — these have contributed to this speculative record.

And out of his experience grew a number of observations which readers of this column interested in speculation might heed.

1. Don't engage in pure speculation unless you can afford to lose.

2. Examine critically the risks surrounding the values under contemplated purchase.

3. Size up the economic atmosphere in which these values are reclining.

The Forum

Q—"When can I start to speculate?"—B. W. B.

A—"When you have cash reserves, an adequate insurance program and a reasonable amount of securities paying regular interest or dividends."

Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment questions, write in care of this newspaper.

Reject Bid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today rejected a new bid for freedom by Morton Sobell, convicted of atomic espionage with Ethel and Julius Rosenberg.

Sobell, sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment, is serving his eighth year in Alcatraz penitentiary. The Rosenbergs were executed in June, 1953.

On applications of one sort or another, Sobell's case has been considered by the Supreme Court six times—always with the result that the conviction remained undisturbed.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (U)—Any war of tomorrow could put a strain on the nation's industries far beyond the challenge they met so successfully in World War II.

Industrial engineers say that missiles call for complicated parts and strange alloys that require more steps in manufacture, more men and machines than did the comparatively simpler engines of destruction in the last war.

Still Problems

Many of the problems aren't licked yet—problems that didn't enter into the older type of warfare at all. Even after they are solved, setting up high-speed production lines for missiles in an emergency would beg both for more automation and for more skilled workers.

Industrialists in World War II were startled when President Roosevelt ordered production multiplied several fold to turn out 50,000 warplanes a year. The job was done in time by the aircraft industry and its host of suppliers and the civilian industries that were transformed into war-plants. The Defense Department's exact spending on missiles is a secret, but industry estimates it to be about three billion dollars a year, twice what it was two years ago. Perhaps 100,000 persons work on them in dozens of plants. More money could be poured in, if Congress ordered—but it would take more than money to get the host of missiles that war might demand.

More Workers Needed

Fred K. Powell Jr., vice president of engineering for American Machine & Foundry, contends:

"By conventional modern methods of manufacture, it has already been found that there aren't enough people in the country to make the small transformers and relays which would be needed for guided missiles in a full dress, ready-for-war, missile armaments program."

But progress toward more automation is reported by engineering as well as manufacturing problems still abound. Industrial scientists are busy studying what happens to electronic and mechanical equipment in a missile as it goes through unaccustomed atmospheric conditions of the inosphere, which man now has penetrated.

There's also the problem of what happens to the Intercontinental Ballistic Missile warhead when it re-enters the earth's atmosphere at 18,000 miles an hour.

When, some years hence, all the scientific and production problems are licked in America, Orval R. Cook president of the Aircraft Industries Assn., quotes military experts as expecting that missiles will be handling most air defense missions and up to half of offensive missions.

Reformed Church Classis of Ulster Holds Day Session

More than 30 ministers and elders of the Reformed Churches of Ulster County assembled for the all-day session of the Classis of Ulster at Shandaken Reformed Church last week.

The Rev. Harold Panburn, pastor of Saugerties Reformed Church presided, and the Rev. George Wood, stated clerk of the Classis, presented the items of business which were laid over from previous meetings or came to his notice through communications and petitions received by him.

Examine Minutes

All of those officially in attendance were appointed to examine elders' minutes, and provision was made for the examination of the minutes of those churches which were not presented.

The situation in the pastorless churches at Mt. Marion, High Woods and Shokan was considered and temporary arrangements accepted.

The participation of many of the churches in leadership and stewardship training classes being held at Fair Street Reformed Church and at the New Hurley Reformed Church was mentioned.

It was reported that generally the Classis Churches have accepted the assessment on themselves for church extension being carried out by the Particular Synod of New York.

A devotional service under the direction of the president, the Rev. Mr. Pangburn, assisted by the Rev. Cuyler Thayer and the Rev. Kenneth Cordes was conducted at the opening of the afternoon session following a lunch served by the ladies of the church.

Health for All

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

You're leaving the hospital. The doctor says you're OK. He reminds you that you have to be careful and not take chances with your health. You've licked tuberculosis this time, but you don't want to go through it again.

Now, as you return to normal living, you would like to forget the whole thing. You tell yourself it's nobody's business but your own that you've had TB. Why advertise the fact? Some people with old fashioned notions about the disease may be afraid of you. Some employers may hesitate to hire you. It's been hard enough to take months out of your life for TB. Now you want to catch up on your living. You don't want to be hampered by the fact that some people you meet will have outworn superstitions about the disease.

So, will you try to conceal the fact that you've had TB? Then, how will you explain when you have to refuse some extra-heavy or overtime work, or when you have to break up the party early so you can get your proper rest?

Or will you be "a good sport" and risk another breakdown with TB?

What would you do? Well, there's one thing we can all do. We can make it unnecessary for TB patients ever to face such a question. We can help correct misinformation about TB. We can help spread the word that the ex-TB patient is not a danger to others, that he's less likely to be spreading TB germs than the person who boasts of never seeing a doctor. We can give him the fair chance that is all he asks.

Going 'Back Home'

As an observer, I have become rather a specialist on the risk of going "back home" after many years' absence. Very often it is better not to go. At best it can only be a depressingly sweet experience.

For every old pal you find, ten will have been dead for years and many an old scene sweet in your memory now is a mass of new brick, a parking lot, or a gas station.

When at last you find a guy who remembers you, things start off something like this:

"Oh, he's been dead 20 years."

"Good old Harry."

"Yep, good old Harry."

Remember the time he put the snake in Gertie Winslow's desk?"

"That wasn't Harry."

"It was too Harry."

"Well, maybe it was. After all, he did die of snakebite."

A depressing part of these meetings after many years is the surprisingly few things that are left to talk about. After incidents like Gertie and the snake, you and your old pal look at each other almost as strangers and wonder what to say next.

IT FALLS to me too often to be the go-between for some long-ago native and the scenes of his youth.

As one who never voted more than twelve miles from his birthplace, I am singled out by people who return 25 to 50 years with joyous expectation of finding things much as they left them.

The sadness of these encounters cannot be depicted in words. It exists indescribably in the signs and faces of the disillusioned homecomers. And it does me no good to be reminded that I can count on my fingers the few still living of the scores of old pals and hundreds of familiar hometown faces of my youth. I wish they wouldn't do it to me.

WHAT STARTED this reverie was the recent return of a lad with whom I went to grade school. He hadn't been "back home" for 40 years. He had moderately prospered, never married, had lived in so many places that he had forgotten many.

Retired now, nostalgia caught up with him and he came back "to see some of the boys," among whom I was a mere acquaintance, probably the last one he intended to look up.

"I've been in town all day, looking around," he said. "And I haven't seen a face I know and hardly a spot as I remember it; not even the Erie station. Where's the old iron Indian?"

He was trying to be cheerful. But he couldn't. "I found where Number Five once was, where we went to school; the City Hall and fire station look familiar, and a few others—but where are the people I know?"

"Why, they're all dead. I guess; gone or bedridden. Most I knew are," I told him. "I can't help you; I don't know these new people."

A TEAR CAME in the eye of this rugged man. "Home!" he said. "I've cherished this for 40 years as home; a place to come back to sometime, to find scenes I loved and people I know and who know me. And now I come; not a one is left, not a scene the same."

"Know something?" he choked. "Home is only a memory, and now even the memory is ruined for me. You've got to stay in a place to preserve it as home."

"Not exactly," I said. "Beyond one's own fireside, 'home' disappears while you stay right there and watch it; because hometown is people, friends who die and leave us lonely. The hometown you remember exists no more for me either."

"Well, I'll be getting on; one day is enough. I'll never have to come back. There's nothing to come back to. Too bad I came at all. So long!"

THAT'S RIGHT, Joe; you'll never need to come back. You stayed away too long.

If you haven't been "back home" for a generation, going back now will only destroy your cherished memory of it — they all tell me.

BRIDGE

Bridge Hand Is Face Lifter

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

The poet might well have been a bridge player when he wrote, "Beneath the bludgeonings of chance my head is bloody but unbowed."

Toady's contract looks pretty hopeless. Nothing breaks and South has five apparent losers: two trumps, two diamonds and one heart. Nevertheless, South turned these bad breaks to good account and romped home with his contract.

West opened the king of hearts and continued the suit when South ducked. South won with the ace and played the ace and king of trumps. He had nothing better to do. He now saw a combination of cards that would allow him to make his contract and proceeded to play for it.

He took dummy's ace and king of clubs and ruffed a third club. The last heart was ruffed in dummy and a fourth club in his own hand.

A diamond lead to the ace put him in dummy again and he was able to ruff dummy's last club for his tenth trick.

If you wonder what happened to all his losing tricks he simply lost them together. East made his two trumps all right but he had to use them to trump his partner's good diamonds.

The bludgeonings of chance had left South's head unbowed

Cole - Oxholm Jr. Nuptials Are Announced; Wedding Is Held October 26 in Connecticut

Miss Barbara Knowles Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Orlando Cole of West Hartford, Conn., exchanged wedding vows with Theodore Oxholm Jr. on Saturday, Oct. 24 at 4 p. m. in the First Church of Christ Congregational, West Hartford.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Oxholm of Esopus.

Officiating clergyman was the Rev. John T. Webster. Gordon W. Stearns was at the organ.

White chrysanthemums decorated the church for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a silver white gown of Cupini and silk taffeta. The Moyan Age neckline of re-embroidered Alencon lace fell from a dropped basque bodice. Her bell shaped skirt with lace inserts extended into a chapel train. Her veil of French illusion fell from a plateau cap of matching lace and taffeta.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and white Fuji pompons with variegated white English ivy. Cynthia S. Cole, the bride's sister, served as maid of honor in a ballerina gown of Hunter Green taffeta fashioned with a scoop neckline edged with a tiny bow and bouffant skirt. She wore a band of English ivy in her hair and carried a front bouquet of yellow shasta and bitter sweet pompons with English ivy.

THE PRICE OF PRIVACY

Dear Mrs. Post: Six months ago my husband and I and our two small children moved into a new housing development out in the suburbs. The houses on the street are alike with approximately ten feet of lawn space between each house. Since moving out here I have had very little privacy. Neighbors are always popping in and out—my problems are theirs and theirs seem to become mine. By choice as well as temperament, I am a very reserved person and need a quite definite degree of privacy. In fact this constant interruption by well-meaning neighbors is getting me down. Will you please tell me what I can do to discourage this practice without having them think me a snob?

Answer: Yours is a very real problem and I get hundreds of letters from others who pray for privacy and complain that they have too many neighborly neighbors. To this I have found no satisfactory solution and I am afraid that the price that has to be paid by one who cherishes privacy and must have it, is to be thought unfriendly or snobbish.

A Hat to Evening Wedding Reception

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to a wedding and reception soon and would like to know if I should keep my hat on at the reception or take it off? The wedding is at five thirty in church and the reception is at seven at a hotel. It is to be a sit-down dinner. I am going to wear a dressy street-length dress and will of course wear a hat to the church, but do I remove it at the reception? My daughter tells me that it is not proper to wear a hat to an evening reception.

Answer: Wear your hat, but be prepared to take it off if you find the others are doing so.

Should She Present Him?

Dear Mrs. Post: I am sixteen years old and will have my first real date next Saturday night. My parents haven't met this boy yet but have heard me speak of him. When he comes to call for me should I be ready and go out immediately, or should I ask him to come into the house to meet my parents?

Answer: You should be ready to go, but suggest to him that he come in and meet your parents before you leave.

How is a note of acceptance written? Ms. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Forms for model notes, invitations and their acceptance are included in leaflet E-21, "Model Notes." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Ellsasser Concert Is Well Received By Capacity Audience at Old Dutch Church

An afternoon of organ virtuosity is seldom experienced in a lifetime was afforded those attending the Richard Ellsasser concert at Old Dutch Church Sunday afternoon. Approximately 500 came to hear this young organist-composer who is a monumental genius in the concert world today.

Be it his flawless technique, his exciting interpretations, or his ability to maintain constant communication with his audience, whatever it is, Ellsasser captivates his listeners within the first few measures of a recital piece. Such suppleness, such limpid tones, such pyrotechnics in the fanfare, are seldom found in concert organ work.

As is his custom, Ellsasser spoke briefly concerning each of the compositions which he played. His recital Sunday marked the second appearance in Kingston. He was presented at the church last November. Both concerts were sponsored by the senior choir.

His opening number at Sunday's concert was a majestic work by Benedetto Marcello of the 17th-18th century Venetian school entitled "The 19th Psalm" and depicting the opening phrases "The Heavens declare the glory of God." This was followed by a sprightly "LeFifre" by D'Andrieu.

A work of soul searching moods was the Liszt Evocation a la Chapelle Sixtine. Two familiar themes, Misere by Allegri and Mozart's Ave Verum were used to describe the conflicts of mankind.

The first section of the program was concluded with the brilliant Toccata in F by J. S. Bach in which the pedal work for which Ellsasser is noted was brought to the fore.

For the major work of the day, Ellsasser chose the First Sonata in D Minor Opus 42 by Alexandre Guilmant. As he explained, the piece represented organ composition written to present the instrument as a symphony orchestra.

Following intermission the program changed to lighter airs. Robert Elmore's "Rhumba" played up the organist's virtuosity in rhythmic patterns. By request Ellsasser repeated "The Soul of the Lake" by Karg-Elert, which he had played on the program last year. From the impressionistic school, the work depicts a day on Lake Constance, Switzerland, where the tranquil scene is broken by a sudden thunder storm.

Ellsasser was represented as a composer by his novel Marche Fantastique which was written in 1948. Through its many turns and changes it becomes an amusing adventure. The program closed with the gay dance, "Rondo in G" by John Bull.

For encores Ellsasser played his arrangement of The Flight of the Bumblebee in which the pedal work is again most prominent; and in honor of Reformation Sunday he closed with a remarkable improvisation of the hymn tune: "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God."

Following the program an informal reception for the artist was held in Bethany Hall. Mr. Ellsasser has just completed six weeks of recording at Gloucester, Mass., and has about 20 LP records ready to be released. At the present time he has 74 records on the market.

With Ellsasser for the Kingston concert were his business manager, Robert Johnston; Christopher Roger-Baker and Miss Janet Roger-Baker, who is "The Girl with the Golden Voice" of Radio Station WXHR, Boston. Next Sunday Ellsasser will be playing in Tuskegee, Ala.

Double Ring Ceremony Is Held Saturday For Colleen Baker and Charles Grunenwald

Miss Colleen Mary Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Baker of 22 Second Avenue, became the bride of Charles Francis Grunenwald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grunenwald, 35 Tietjen Avenue, Saturday, Oct. 26 at 1:30 p. m. at St. Mary's Church.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Francis X. Toner.

Theodore Riccobono was at the organ. Martin Kelly Sr. was the soloist.

Vases of white mums and Fuji mums decorated the church. The pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace posed over bridal satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a scalloped "V" neckline. The bouffant floor length skirt composed of tiered tulle featured a pointed peplum of lace. The French illusion fingertip veil was held in place by a bridal cap of matching lace trimmed with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a stylized cascade of phalaenopsis orchids and Dracena foliage.

Bernice Baker, sister of the bride, wore a gown of leaf green peau de soie, princess fashion, with a scoop neckline, short sleeves, and a mezzanine length flared skirt. The back bow and floating panel were in a deeper shade of green and she wore a cloche type headpiece of nylon braid which secured a tulle flirtation veil. Miss Baker, who served as maid of honor, carried a stylized cascade of Burgundy pompons and lemon leaves.

Attendants were Miss Helen Baker, sister of the bride, Miss Marilyn Brophy and Mrs. Jacqueline Loekle. Their gowns were identical in style and color to that worn by the honor attendants.

J. P. Getty, Oil Tycoon, Is Listed As Richest Man

NEW YORK (AP)—Jean Paul Getty, a Minnesota-born oilman, is the nation's richest man, according to a magazine survey published today.

Getty tops a list of 76 Americans with fortunes estimated at 75 million to a billion dollars.

The survey, conducted by Fortune Magazine, placed Getty, who will be 65 Dec. 15, in the 700 million to a billion dollar category. The tall, well-built Oxford graduate in economics lives in Paris and Saudi Arabia. He runs the Tidewater Oil Co. and owns the Hotel Pierre in New York City among other things.

In London Getty said, "It doesn't make any difference to me personally if I am worth five million, or 200 million, or one billion or several billion dollars."

He said he doesn't know the exact total of his holdings but "would hope to get several billions" if he sold out.

"Remember," he added nonchalantly, "a billion dollars isn't worth what it used to be."

Getty was a millionaire in oil when he was 23. He said luck helped him get rich.

Bought in Depression

"In the depression I did what the experts said one should not do," he said. "I was a very big buyer of oil company stocks."

Getty has a home in Santa Monica, Calif., and business headquarters in Los Angeles.

He was born in Minneapolis, the son of a lawyer who moved to California and left 15 million dollars when he died in 1930.

Following Getty were seven persons, including four from the Mellon family, in the 400 to 700 million dollar category.

John D. Rockefeller Jr.; Mrs. Mellon Bruce, of New York; Arthur Vining Davis, a founder and former chairman of the board of the Aluminum Co. of America; H. L. Hunt, the Texas oilman; Paul Mellon, son of the late Andrew Mellon; Richard King Mellon, a nephew of the former secretary of the treasury and president of the Mellon National Bank; and Mrs. Alan M. Scaife, of Pittsburgh, a niece of the financier.

The magazine found oil the greatest single source of American wealth.

Ave Is Listed

New York is still the chief habitat of the millionaire, according to Fortune, but oil-rich Texas is coming up fast.

Mellons, Du Ponts, Rockefellers and Fords dominate the list. Included in the 100 to 200 million bracket is glass maker Arthur A. Houghton Jr. of New York.

Gov. Harriman of New York is one of 31 in the 75 to 100 million dollar category.

Swifts are the fastest of all birds. They have been clocked at 200 miles an hour.

JCC Announces Party, Art Class

Activities including a bowling party and art class for children were announced today by the Jewish Community Center, 265 Wall Street.

Members of the young adult group are invited to meet at the Center or at Ferraro's Bowlerama on Tuesday at 7 p. m.

Following mixed bowling the group will return to the Center for a business meeting and social hour. The program committee, consisting of both Kingston and New Paltz young adults, will present an outline for the program during the next quarter.

It was announced that cooperation of the Jewish Community Center adult program committee and the local B'nai B'rith Lodge has been pledged with the Hillside Group joining the Kingston young adults.

More than 100 young men and women from New Paltz State Teachers College and Bard College will become eligible for participation in the expanded group.

Sol J. Silverman, executive director of the Jewish Community Center will serve as advisor to the new group, assisted by the Hillside advisors of Zephania Lodge, B'nai B'rith.

The Tuesday afternoon art class for children will meet for the first session tomorrow at 3:45 o'clock. Mrs. Abbey Stein, one of the nation's leading painters, will instruct for the fourth year of the series.

Mrs. Stein has developed her teaching method to a very high degree and the children in her classes have produced some outstanding examples of water color and crayon works. The annual art show in the spring of the year has become an event receiving widespread recognition as an exhibit of creative expression by children.

In recent years, the pupils have developed from free form, to still life, to portraiture to abstract painting and the various shadings in between. Mr. Stein assists in many of the phases of the teaching program and emphasizes craftsmanship.

Membership in the art class is open to all children in the community at a very nominal cost for each class. Enrollment is limited to 14 children ages six through 11. Advance registration may be made by calling the Jewish Community Center. Parents are urged to reserve a trial lesson for children who may be ill and unable to attend the first session. The Center is a Red Feather Agency.

The Cloisters

About one mile above George Washington Bridge in New York City is the Cloisters, the medieval branch of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. It was given by the Rockefeller family who paid 7 million dollars for its construction 25 years ago.

Residents of Home for Aged Extend Cordial Invitation to Attend Annual Donation Day

Annual Donation Day and Tea at the Home for the Aged on Thursday, Oct. 31, not only means a great deal financially for its operation, but it also represents the culmination of work done throughout the year by its residents.

Without exception, all the handmade articles that will go on display represent the enthusiasm and sincerity with which the residents have worked for their annual "open house."

One Large Family

A visit to the Home reveals that all within live together as one large family. Hostessing is shared by all the ladies, and gentlemen as well, even assisting at the dining room tables. The only thing that might possibly set this particular group apart from an average family, is that they are all so eager to help in routine duties whereas Sis or Junior at home are at times reluctant to tackle their end of household responsibilities.

Cheerfulness and friendliness prevail throughout the Home and mealtimes are not only nutritious but also serve as very pleasant social hours.

The effect of these surroundings is very tale-telling since many residents' lives are prolonged to the extent of as much as ten years, in some cases, 20. This in itself, is the Home's best testimonial. One resident is now 97.

Perhaps the telling is best summed up by Mrs. Mabel Price, a resident, who says, "I waited for two years for a vacancy here at the Home and have enjoyed every minute of it since I've come."

Mrs. Price, is particularly known for her oil paintings which she started at the age of 79 at the Home. She is regarded as Kingston's own "Grandma Moses."

As Donation Day and Tea draws closer, the excitement steadily grows amongst the residents. They are anxious to throw open the doors to area residents for everyone to see their Home and accept their hospitality.

How Proceeds Are Used

All the proceeds from the event will be used for the general welfare of the residents through a good cheer fund of the Board of Managers. All cash donations received on Donation Day are used by the trustees for the general maintenance of the institution.

Area residents are cordially invited to attend and donated articles will be accepted by the Home for sale during the event. Donated articles should be left at the Home prior to Thursday in order that they may be marked and properly displayed.

Crews Clear Wreckage From Central Tracks

CLYDE — Wrecking crews worked today to clear six derailed freight cars from one track of the New York Central main line. The cars and the rear wheels of the diesel engine jumped the tracks last night in this Wayne County community. No one was hurt. A railroad spokesman said one of the three tracks is blocked, but that traffic is being re-routed over the other three and is moving normally. He said the derailed cars should be cleared off the track later today.

Practical Nurses With Licenses Join Health Team

Speakers at the recent national convention of the National Federation of Licensed Practical Nurses stressed that members have won a permanent and important place on the "health team."

Those heard at the meeting in Peoria, Ill., represented nursing, medical and hospital associations, according to Mrs. Gladys B. Sutton, Hudson Valley delegate from the New York State association.

She has reported to the Ulster County Division of Practical Nurses of New York, Inc. that speakers pointed out "it is fast becoming standard in American medical care to have licensed practical nurses on the health team."

The health team, she advised, is a battery of different health specialists designed to give patients the benefits of "total care."

Three national officers and five national directors were elected, Mrs. Sutton reported.

Convention action included: Defeat of a motion to raise member dues in 1959.

Passing a resolution affirming that the National Federation is the only national organization entitled to represent the viewpoint of licensed practical nurses in national legislation.

Reaffirming of the organization's determination to win voting representation for licensed practical nurses on every state board of the examiners of nurses.

It was reported that this legislative drive has now won representation for licensed practical nurses in either a voting or advisory capacity on the board of examiners in all but eight states.

The state boards of examiners of nurses are the licensing and regulatory commissions governing nursing within each state.

It was reported by the legislative committee that every state now has a law providing licensure for practical nurses.

Sees Increase Due In Delinquency Date

WEST POINT — The state correction commissioner warned today that the general population increase was expected to result in a higher juvenile delinquency and crime rate.

Commissioner Thomas J. McHugh said the population increase, which he described as abnormal, was "coming as a wave."

"This is the wave which is now crowding the upper grades of our elementary schools and the lower grades of the secondary schools," he said. "The delinquency or criminal percentage of this population increase will begin to affect us in 1960 and in the following decade may almost double our institution population."

In a speech at the 49th annual state conference on probation, McHugh said the state now had a total institutional population of 20,000.

"We will be faced with an almost impossible task with a total population of 30,000 inmates if we do not expand our facilities beginning now, or develop alternative resources," he said.

Says Canada Should Deepen Its Route

SOREL, Que. — A member of the New York-Vermont Interstate Commission says Canada should depend its part of the Richelieu-Lake Champlain - Hudson water route to match the 12-foot depth in the U. S. section.

James FitzPatrick of Plattsburgh, N. Y., urged yesterday that an engineering survey be made of the route.

He said at a joint U. S.-Canadian public meeting, "it is most important that we complete a new survey to show the cost of the canal system and the use. We must urge both our governments to make a review of the problem. The Richelieu - Hudson route eliminates 1,200 miles of ocean travel between Montreal and New York City.

Return Menderes as Turkey Faces Its Gravest Crisis

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Adnan Menderes won a new term as Turkey's prime minister today while this pro-western nation faced its gravest foreign crisis since World War II.

Official returns from yesterday's parliamentary election gave Menderes' Democrat Party 397 seats in the national assembly. The People's Republican Party, led by former president Ismet Inonu, won 178 and the small freedom and national parties four each.

Twenty-seven contests still were undecided.

The government did not release any nationwide voting figures, but it appeared the Democrats got slightly less than 50 per cent of the total vote of about 10 million. When the fourth postwar parliament convenes Nov. 1 Menderes will have a reduced but still firm majority in the 610-member assembly. In the last elections, three years ago, the Democrats won 488 of 542 seats, although defections later cut the government total to 450.

The only effect the election was expected to have on the Turkish-Syrian border crisis was to give Turkish leaders more time to deal with it. Since the campaigning began, the Turks have paid little heed to the Syrian charges of Turkish plans to attack and Soviet threats to intervene if fighting broke out.

Turkey denied the charges and said troop reinforcements along the Syrian border were there on defensive maneuvers. Foreign journalists visiting the border area found the army in defensive positions, placed well back of the actual demarcation line.

Campaigning politicians hardly mentioned the grave foreign crisis. Both major parties support Turkey's alliances with NATO and the Baghdad Pact.

The campaign centered instead on Menderes' full-speed-ahead program for economic development, Turkey's serious shortage of consumer goods and the government's restrictions on civil liberties.

Samsonville Man Held on Traffic Count

A Samsonville resident was arrested Sunday night by Ellenville state police on a charge of endangering speed after his half-ton pickup truck went out of control on the Clay Hill road about a mile west of Route 209 and turned over.

Cpl. N. G. Lecakes and Trooper M. J. Mahoney arrested Alfred Tetta, 23. Tetta was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel of Kerhonkson who set hearing for Tuesday night.

Cpl. Lecakes reported that Tetta was proceeding east in a 1949 pickup truck negotiating a sharp right curve was he lost control of the vehicle. The truck swung off the north shoulder, back across the highway and off the south shoulder, overturning on its side.

Republican Candidates for Reelection in Eleventh Ward

ROBERT F. PHINNEY

For the past 42 years Supervisor Robert F. Phinney has been a resident of this city, and during all those years he has taken an active part in all civic matters. This year he is seeking reelection on the Republican ticket, and it is expected that the voters of the Eleventh Ward will return him to the county legislative body by an even larger majority than two years ago.

Supervisor Phinney is widely known as an insurance man and for 19 years was a member of the Kingston staff of the Prudential Insurance Co. Fraternally he is a member of the United Commercial Travelers, Loyal Order of Moose and the Masonic Order. Deeply interested in local fireman matters, he has been a member of Wiltwyck Hose Co. and the Ulster Co. Volunteer Firemen's Association for many years.

During the years he has been a resident of the Eleventh Ward, Supervisor Phinney has taken an active part in all ward affairs as well as those of city-wide interest.

His previous experience with

WILLIAM A. DAVIS

William A. Davis of 28 South Pine street, a lifelong resident of the city of Kingston is the Republican candidate for alderman in the 11th Ward.

Bill attended Public School No. 8 and the Kingston High School.

He is married to the former Charlotte Benton. The Davises have two children.

Down through the years he has always been vitally interested in fireman matters and is past president of the A. H. Wicks Engine Co.

His good sound judgment and interest in good government has qualified him as a logical choice to succeed himself in representing the people of the Eleventh Ward in the Common Council.

For over 22 years he has been employed at the Binnewater Lake Ice Co.

the Board of Supervisors is such that he is fully qualified to represent the ward in the county legislature. He has served on many important committees and was chairman of the Board of Supervisors in 1954.

Says Nike Defense Against Deadly Ballistic Missile

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said today that a counter-missile against the deadly ballistic missile already has its beginning in the Army's Nike Zeus project.

Such a defense can be provided at acceptable cost, the Army chief of staff added in an address prepared for the third annual meeting of the Assn. of the United States Army.

Indispensable

"We can have an antimissile missile defense and indeed we must have one if we are to retain our nuclear retaliatory deterrent capability, which is indispensable to the prevention of general atomic war," Taylor said.

After referring earlier in his address to the reportedly successful launching by Russia of an Intercontinental Ballistic Missile, Taylor said:

"In the light of recent events, we are becoming increasingly impressed with the need to press forward in the development of the antimissile missile.

"The Army project in this field is, as you know, the Nike Zeus which already partially exists in the form of research and development components. All of our efforts in this field have been crowned with success appropriate to the stage of the program.

'Price Within Reach'

"We see no reason why the country cannot have an antimissile missile defense for a price that is within reach," he continued. "I am sure that many of you have heard the statement that the dollar requirements for this kind of defense are astronomical and that the whole concept is beyond consideration. I can assure you that the studies which I have seen lead me to a different conclusion."

He made no estimate of the cost, however.

Syria, Reds Sign Economic Pact

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Syria and the Soviet Union today signed an economic agreement providing for extensive development projects with Russian machinery, equipment and technical assistance. The Syrians continued to insist that no strings were attached.

Reliable sources said the Soviets would supply 100 million dollars worth of materials, equipment and assistance for the building of dams, highways, railroads and irrigation projects.

Syria will pay the Soviets back over a 12-year period at 2½ per cent interest.

Cooler Weather Forecast In State Next 5 Days

ALBANY (AP)—The extended weather forecasts for New York State, prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau, for the period from 7 p. m. today, to 7 p. m. Saturday:

Eastern New York—Temperatures are expected to continue to average below normal most of the week. A bit warmer Tuesday, cooling trend Wednesday, slight warming trend Thursday and cooler again Saturday. Precipitation will be light and generally less than one-tenth inch in water content. Occasional snow flurries at the beginning of the period and a few showers likely about Friday.

Western New York—A return to seasonable weather is indicated, with temperatures moderating so as to average near or only slightly below normal. Generally fair with moderating temperatures Tuesday, continuing mostly fair with moderate temperatures thereafter. Very little or no precipitation is indicated.

Temperature normals—Normal temperatures over Upstate New York now range from early morning lows in the 30s, to afternoon highs in the 50s.

Death Toll Lower

ALBANY (AP)—The accidental death toll in New York State was comparatively low over the week-end. Ten persons died, nine of them in traffic accidents.

Over most weekends, the number of persons killed is close to 20.

Siene Foundation Asks Increased U. S. Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Siene Foundation, calling for greater American support for basic scientific research, says Russia has given "special and significant attention" to it.

The NSF in a report yesterday recommended far reaching measures designed to increase the national effort in this type of research, which it described as important to the country's defense, economy and health.

Would Revise Law

Among the key recommendations was one calling for revisions of federal income tax laws as a means of increasing "philanthropic giving for basic research" by industries, other non-federal organizations and individuals. It proposed a tax credit for such support, and one especially aimed at encouraging greater support from low- and middle income individuals.

The principal purpose of the foundation is to foster basic research and education in the sciences. It was created by Congress in 1950 to promote scientific progress.

Fundamental Research

Basic or fundamental research is research for new knowledge which may or may not have practical value. It is distinguished from applied research and development which utilize existing knowledge, but the NSF says basic research is "the indispensable basis for practical developments."

The 64-page report declared that Russia apparently is devoting a greater proportion of its local research effort to the basic type than is the United States. A spokesman said a tentative estimate is 14 per cent for the Russians compared with about eight for the United States.

And while this and other factors in Russia are "likely to give the United States a short-run advantage in technology," the NSF said, it added:

"But if this country is not to suffer in the long run, it must act upon the principle that progress in applied research and development depends absolutely on the growth and encouragement of basic research."

The waters of the Dead Sea in Palestine contain about eight times as much salt as does ocean water.

Savings Banks' Deposits Reach Record Figure

NEW YORK (AP)—Total deposits in the 525 mutual savings banks of the nation gained $206,000,000 during September, to reach a new record figure of $31,214,000,000, according to Charles J. Lyon, president of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks and president, Society for Savings, Hartford, Conn. Unlike June, July and August, the deposit increase during September was above that for the corresponding month of 1956. In September, 1956 the gain was $158,000,000. An important factor in the greater gain this year is the substantially higher interest-dividends paid to depositors.

Over the first nine months, total deposits rose $1,188,000,000 or 4 per cent in 1957, as compared with $1,340,000,000 or 4.8 per cent in the corresponding period of 1956. During five of the nine months this year, amounts deposited in regular accounts have exceeded, and during the other four months have been less than, those for the corresponding months last year, whereas during each of the nine months withdrawals have been greater than last year. Interest-dividends paid to depositors during the first nine months of 1957 approximated $560,000,000 as compared to $462,000,000 a year ago.

Mortgages and corporate securities provided the important investment outlets for mutual savings banks during September. The institutions increased their holdings of mortgage loans by $103,000,000 to bring holdings on September 30, 1957 to $20,616,000,000, or 59.2 per cent of assets. The banks also placed $57,000,000 in corporate and municipal securities, and 27,000,000 in cash, while reducing U. S. governments by $17,000,000. In September 1956, they had placed $186,000,000 in mortgages and $10,000,000 in corporate and municipal securities, while reducing U. S. governments by $38,000,000.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—People occasionally ask why television doesn't turn its cameras on itself for a close look at the fabulous infant.

Operating under the "why not?" theory, "Wide World" (NBC-TV) will do exactly that on Nov. 10 in a 90-minute program appropriately entitled "The Fabulous Infant." It will be a look at the past 10 years of television, at its present and its future.

Berle Back
A feature of the show will be the return of "Mr. Television" himself, Milton Berle—not as a comedian, but as a serious commentator on the problems of performers in the medium and the problems of television in developing and maintaining talent.

"The program will be not a tribute to television, but the story of television," says Wide World executive producer Barry Wood. The producer of this particular show, Herbert Sussan, emphasizes that the other major networks, CBS-TV and ABC-TV, have offered the fullest cooperation. Thus the viewing audience will see in the opening segment of the program brief kinescopes of dozens of the TV stars and lesser constellations of yesterday—"kinestars," Sussan calls them. It will in part answer the question of "what did television promise 10 years ago?"

Kovacs In Serious Role
An interesting phenomenon of television performers — "The Big Break" — will be seriously discussed by Ernie Kovacs, who rose to popularity on the basis of a single half-hour program after years of being a very funny fellow in the medium.

Sussan and Wood say that while the show will not stress the technical aspects of television, the people behind the cameras will be given their day before the cameras.

Says Muskrat Fur Is Sign of Long Winter
ST. REGIS, Que. (AP)—A 77-year-old Mohawk Indian chief says the long fur on muskrats bodes a long and hard winter for the northeastern United States and southeastern Canada.

Mitchell George, a chief of the six nations Indian confederacy and the nation's weather oracle, annually make a prediction.

An examination of more than a hundred muskrat hides, he says, shows that the fur on the animals is about two inches long this fall, compared with about one inch in past mid-winters.

George says he figures nature knows best what is in store for her charges and provides for them beforehand.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For years I have maintained a policy against interviewing child and animal actors. But I went and broke it for a second generation Ladd.

No, I was never bitten by Baby Leroy or Rin Tin Tin. But I have been bitten by non-responsive sessions with various moppets, horses, dogs, etc. Hence the policy.

But the invitation to speak with David Ladd was persuasive. After all, the kid was playing his father Alan's son in "The Proud Rebel." And not just a walk-on, but a fat part as a deaf mute.

Bragged About Kid
And didn't the producer, Sam Goldwyn Jr., brag that the kid would be a star when the picture comes out?

So we had our lunch. David had a chocolate malt and cheeseburger. I had the willies.

"Let's get on with the interview," David suggested as he munched on the sandwich. "I want to see if you ask the same question everyone else does."

"How did you get the role?" "Mr. Goldwyn sent for me. He saw me in 'The Big Land' with my father and thought I could do this picture. I guess, I think he just wanted my dad to do the picture and he used me to help get him. So when dad signed, I went with the deal."

David further revealed that he is 10, attends Black Fox Military Academy, makes 90's in his grades, is on the swimming team.

"I go to college," he remarked airily.

"Yeah, I went to UCLA to learn the sign language for this picture. Well, let's get on with the interview. Why don't you write down notes?"

"I don't like to. How much do you get paid for this picture?" "Thirty-five cents a day. How much do you get paid?" "None of your business. I'm doing this interview."

"Then get on with it. I want to go for a bike ride around the studio."

Likes Dad's Movies

"Do you like to see movies?" "Some of them. I like my dad's movies. They're always good. He never makes any bad ones. Why haven't you asked the question everyone asks?"

"Do you like being an actor?" "That's not the question. Yes, I like being an actor. But it's hard work."

"It looks easy."

"Yeah? It ain't as easy as being an interviewer. All you gotta do is ask questions."

It turned out that the question he is always asked is: Do you have any girl friends. "One," he said, "but you're not going to find out her name."

Finishing his meal, he dashed off to his bike and disappeared around a sound stage. Fairly shook up, I resolved never to upset policy again.

Big Ten Race Wide Open

Conference Titles at Stake In Key Games Next Weekend

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

On the face of it, a team like Colorado should be looking forward to its game with Missouri this Saturday with no particular concern.

The Buffaloes already have showed they are made of the sternest stuff by barely losing to mighty Oklahoma, 14-13, Missouri, on the other hand, has won four victories (two by one point), a loss and a tie on its record.

But in the 16 years of this Big Eight rivalry, Colorado—probably the only team that does not roll over and play dead when Oklahoma shows up—has beaten Missouri just once. That was a 34-13 decision in 1951.

Whatever happens, if any team ever was entitled to break the Oklahoma winning streak, it is Colorado.

Look at the record for the past four years: the Sooners got by, 27-20 in 1953, in 1954 it was 13-6, in 1955 it was 56-21 (Colorado blew a lead) and last year it was 27-19. That last one was the only real ball game on the Sooners' '56 schedule.

This Was Closest

The '57 edition was the closest yet, with the Sooners coming from behind in the last quarter to chalk up their 45th straight victory by the margin of a point-after-touchdown.

But all Oklahoma's troubles are not over for the year.

On Nov. 16, they run into tough Notre Dame. A victory over Oklahoma would cement Irish Coach Terry Brennan's position.

Oklahoma, ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press poll, has something more at stake than the Big Eight championship this year. The Sooners are eligible for the Orange Bowl, since Colorado represented the league there last Jan. 1.

At the moment, it appears Oklahoma's rival in the Orange Bowl will be Duke. This would be a change for the Sooners, who beat Maryland in their last two appearances.

The Blue Devils were tied by North Carolina State, 14-14 Saturday.

day, but they still are undefeated. State is ineligible and there really is not much left in the Atlantic Coast Conference unless Georgia Tech suddenly explodes against the Blue Devils this week.

But while the Big Eight and ACC already have taken shape, the same can't be said for most of the other major conferences.

In the Big 10, with the campaign more than half over, Iowa, Ohio State, Michigan and Michigan State still are in the running for the championship. Iowa, the defending champion, can't play in the Rose Bowl again, so it's a three-team race.

If Iowa defeats Michigan this week, the Wolverines would be just about out of it, for they already have one defeat.

On the other end of the country, Oregon has become the favorite to represent the Pacific Coast Conference in the Rose Bowl. The Webfoots are the only undefeated team in the League and need only get by Stanford this week to make it all-but-certain.

Cougars Have Chance

Washington State still has a chance, too, but to make it concrete, Stanford will have to beat Oregon, a large order.

Accord Cagers Upset Tony's In 'B' League Thriller, 80-64

Accord's inspired basketballers perpetrated a major upset in the YMCA "B" League Saturday night, routing undefeated Tony's Pizzeria, 80 to 64, on the strength of a jet-propelled first half.

Joe Dallao and Ed Knight hit consistently as the highly charged Accordians rolled a 24-7 lead at the quarter and were in front, 41-28, at the half. Tony's rallied to pick up 12 points in the third period, only to buckle under Accord's closing drive.

Dallao grabbed scoring honors with 27 points, including a dozen baskets. Knight bucketed 22 and Edelman hit 18. Skip Brodhead, who had to quit midway in the final period because of a sprained ankle, led Tony's with 22 points. Tony's trailed by only six points when Brodhead departed.

In the Southwest Conference, where the unusual is the everyday, form is holding up remarkably with Texas A&M still the favorite to become host team in the Cotton Bowl. The Aggies smashed Baylor Saturday, and this week run into Arkansas. Texas also is up there, and that's a surprise. The Aggies and Longhorns meet Nov. 28.

Elsewhere:

Auburn and Mississippi are tied for the Southeastern Conference lead each with a 3-0 mark. They don't meet. If Auburn gets past Florida this week, it should be in Mississippi still must play tough Tennessee.

Princeton and Dartmouth share the Ivy League lead with 3-0 marks. Princeton plays Brown, the pre-season choice for the championship, and Dartmouth faces Yale, the improving defending champion, this week.

Utah is leading the Skyline Conference with 3-1, and, after having beaten Wyoming Saturday, could go all the way.

Idaho State, undefeated in five games, is the heavy favorite to go on and win the Rocky Mountain Conference, while Houston, among the eligibles for the Missouri Valley title, is virtually in, despite a mediocre 2-3-1 over-all record.

College Football

Bill Boyd sparked Kansas to an early lead in the track event. Fred Harjes was a stickout for New York in the field events.

Texas routed Kansas, 9 to 1, and New York blanked California, 1-0, in the opening round of the hockey matches. Texas, with Tom Wadnola starring, edged New York, 1-0, in the finals.

Captain Russell Glass won four of five events in swimming pool tests to pull his California crew to victory. Another Olympic is scheduled in the spring.

Cange Registers 3 Touchdowns To Pace Indians

Halfback Charlie Cange scored three touchdowns as undefeated Onteora Central steam-rolled to a 45-6 triumph over outclassed Marlboro Central Saturday at Boiceville.

The victory was the fourth for the Indians and their second in the UCLAL. They are now locked in a three-way tie with Rondout Valley Central and New Paltz for first place.

Cange enjoyed the biggest afternoon of his career, sprinting into paydirt on runs of 17, 48 and 60 yards. The 60-yarder was on a pass interception and completed Onteora's touchdown merry-making.

Onteora collected seven touchdowns in all rolling up its most lopsided victory of the season. Other TD's were scored by Bruce Weiderspeil, Tom McCrosson, Bobby Myers and Artie Gibbins.

Swartz Scores

Doug Swartz averted a shut-out for his team by running back the second half kickoff 79 yards.

Cange got the Indians on the warpath early, skirting end for 17 yards only a few minutes after the game started. It was his first run of the game. He was trapped a couple of times but swivel-hipped his way to the goal.

Safetyman Myers intercepted a Marlboro pass on the Onteora 40 and raced it the remaining distance in the second period. Shortly after, Weiderspeil plunged across from the 3 after a blocked punt on the 15 had set up the opportunity. Tackle Konrad King booted one extra point during the first half as the Indians led at intermission, 19-0.

After Swartz's dazzling, Cange came right back on the third play, fowling the kickoff and exploded on a quick opener for 48 yards. King's kick was good for a 26-6 margin.

12-Yard TD

McCrosson's tally was 12 yards out. Gibbins, who alternated with Norm Boggs at both end and quarterback, sneaked over for his score from the one. The TD was set up by four straight completions from Gibbins to Boggs. King's third and final extra point was achieved after McCrosson's jaunt.

The game statistics tell just how much the Indians dominated the game. They outgained the visitors on the ground, 228 yards to 40, and had the edge in the air also, 81 to 55 yards.

Coach Ed Witko's crew faces a crucial test Thursday under the lights at New Paltz when they taken on the Huguenots. First place will be at stake in the vital contest.

Behra Cops Grand Prix

CASABLANCA, Morocco, Oct. 27—Jean Behra, of France, won the Grand Prix of Morocco today. World champion Juan Manuel Fangio, of Argentina, competing despite a high fever, finished fourth.

Behra's time over the 260.2 mile course was 2 hours, 18 minutes and 20 seconds for an average speed of 111 miles an hour.

The Frenchman finished 38 seconds ahead of Britain's Lewis Evan, who drove a Vanwall. Maurice Trintignant, of France, was third in a BRM.

Heart Attack Proves Fatal To Morabito

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Tony Morabito, founder of the San Francisco 49ers who told doctors he wanted "to stay in football and take my chances," suffered a fatal heart attack yesterday watching his team.

The 47-year-old sportsman had been advised by physicians to abandon his interest in professional football when he suffered an attack in 1952.

He remained as the club's principal owner and sat in his box as usual as the 49ers went against the Chicago Bears. They trailed 14-7 near the end of the half when Tony slumped over. He died minutes later at Mary's Help Hospital.

The team, which learned at half-time of Morabito's attack, came back to beat the Bears 21-17 and take first place in the National Football League's Western Conference.

Players Weep

After the game Coach Frank Albert and star halfback Hugh McElhenny were among those weeping openly.

Albert declared, "we'd rather lose them all by 100 points than lose what we did today."

Morabito's outspoken determination made him a controversial figure in professional football after he founded the 49ers in 1945. He purchased a franchise for San Francisco in the old All America Conference then, and through four years it proved a losing proposition.

Then in 1950, the 49ers became members of the National Football League and support increased. At the time of his death, Morabito was president of the loop's Western Conference.

He and his brother Vic were co-owners of the club.

California Tops Junior Olympics

The California team edged Texas by two points, 26-24, to capture the Junior Olympics sponsored by the YMCA physical department. Kansas was third with 19 and New York fourth with 16 points. A strong finish in the aquatic events nailed down the California triumph.

Bill Boyd sparked Kansas to an early lead in the track event. Fred Harjes was a stickout for New York in the field events.

Texas routed Kansas, 9 to 1, and New York blanked California, 1-0, in the opening round of the hockey matches. Texas, with Tom Wadnola starring, edged New York, 1-0, in the finals.

Lawrence Scores Two Touchdowns In One-Sided Win

Liberty Central completely outplayed Highland High Saturday and posted a 25-6 football victory in the Sullivan County village.

The Redskins, who have now won four and dropped one, spotted the visitors a first period TD and then stormed on the victory. The setback was to second in a row for Highland which copped its first three starts.

A recovered fumble gave Highland its opportunity to score. Dave Burdash passed to end Bill Phillips for 40 yards and a TD. Chuck Mazzetti was stopped trying for the extra point.

Johnny Lawrence, of basketball fame, tied it up later in the period, going over from the 3. A Highland fumble turned the ball over to the Redskins.

Dick Grant bolted 11 yards in the second quarter to make it 12-6 and that's the way the game stood at halftime. The play climaxed a 30 yard move.

Lawrence came back in the third period and raced 45 yards to score. Al Kavleski tallied the last TD from the 1 in the final period. Jack Thompson plunged for the PAT.

Giants Tumble to Second 49ers, Browns on Top In Pro Grid Conferences

By DON WEISS
The Associated Press

The San Francisco 49ers, who do their winning in streaks, are at it early this year and, coupled with the flip-flop fortunes of their rivals, it might just be enough to give the Prospectors their first National Football League division title.

Victory No. 4, since an opening game loss, was a comeback 21-17 capping off the Chicago (Who's Afraid of the Big Bad) Bears Sunday that enabled San Francisco to open up a full-game Western Conference lead over Baltimore and Detroit.

The Colts and Lions, sharing the top spot with the 49ers at the start of play, cooperated nicely—Baltimore blowing a tidy lead for the second straight week to do down, 24-21, to Green Bay, and Detroit succumbing under a Log Angeles rout, 35-17.

We are indebted to an anonymous contributor for material in today's column which is dedicated to National CYO Week. It is a moving description of the trials and tribulations of a typical CYO youngster and captures completely the spirit and essence of CYO.

Our athlete of the hour is a little fellow. He is not just one boy but a whole lot of boys put into one. He is the CYO boy of your parish. We'll call him Jimmy. Well, Jimmy is celebrating National CYO Week and we thought a fitting present would be to lift from the comparative anonymity of an occasional stick of type in a boxscore to the dignity of a column.

Jimmy may be a fourth grader, or you may find him in high school. He has had his share of thrills, as when his ball club took on and defeated the champs of New York City; or when he stood alone at the foul line and dropped 19 out of 25 foul shots to become the "Upstate" foul shooting champ. He has had his little thrills, too. He remembers when he was so excited at chalking up his first goal in actual competition that he just stood there in wonderment, gazing at that charmed rim of steel while the rest of the game went on without him. Then there was the day at the track meet when Mom and Dad were in the stands and he jumped his best, but so many of the fellows seemed to jump farther. But when the medals were given out his name was called and a bronze medal for this place was pressed into his hand—his first medal.

Jimmy has learned to take the tough breaks, too. There was the season they did not win a game, but the whole gang showed up and played their best each game. The heart-breaker was when the closing seconds found them one point ahead and one of his pals in his excitement shot the final goal in the opponents' basket to make them lose by a single point.

Jimmy sometimes has not a fancy uniform but he always has a fighting heart. He'll play his best if his team looks like the winner, but he'll play just as hard if they don't look so hot. He likes sports, he likes his friends and he likes the competition the CYO gives him.

He was one of the 150 boys who took part in the Communion Breakfast and foul-shooting contest this year. His team was one of the 28 in six leagues with about 320 boys that made the basketball courts ring for the CYO this past season. He is one of perhaps a thousand boys and girls who compete in CYO activities in Ulster County. He burned up the cinders for his parish trying to bring home the coveted Father Herdgen Memorial trophy. He fielded, pitched or just played the bench with 165 of his fellow CYO'ers, as 11 teams in two leagues strove to be champs of the diamond. He plowed over hill and dale at Hasbrouck Park, trying to add a point to his parish's bid for the Patrolmen's Association Trophy.

Jimmy's dad coaches his nine and he still remembers his older brother calling the third strike on him when they were one run behind in the ninth with runners on second and third. His mom sewed that big old "7" on the back of the basketball jersey. She was his best fan. His pal's father gives up his Saturday mornings to whip the court crew into shape. His parish priest appears on the sidelines when he can and these occasions always call for Jimmy's extra best.

Right now, Jimmy might be dreaming of the day he'll lift one into the upper deck to win the World Series, or how he will carry over the winning touchdown for the blue and gold of Notre Dame. If he ever does, the whole sporting world will recognize him as a champion. But just in case he doesn't, I would like to recognize him as a champion right now. His Hall of Fame will be his own home. To his own children, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig will be only second best. For the members of his community, he will continue to play the game down through the years. Good luck, Jimmy, and to all your friends of the CYO: Continue to play your best with whatever life's game brings you.

Japanese Victory Launches New Golf Boom in the Orient

By WILL GRIMSLEY

TOKYO (AP)—The man who runs the show today predicted the Canada Cup competition soon will become "the Olympics of golf," the true test of international supremacy in the sport.

"Even the Russians will find it inexpedient to stay out—they'll have to come in," added Frank Pace Jr., former U. S. secretary of the Army who is president of the International Golf Assn.

"The surprising victory of the Japanese here last weekend is proof in itself that the game has become global. The day is past when Britain and the United States can feel their Ryder Cup and Walker Cup matches determine the championship among nations."

Little Torakichi Nakamura, 42-year-old teaching professional, out-shot some of the greatest shot-makers in the game, including America's Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret, to win the International Trophy Sunday. He had rounds of 68-68-67-71 over the par 72 Kasumigaseki Country Club for a 72-hole total of 274.

He and Manchurian-born Koichi Ono combined to win the team trophy by a nine-stroke margin over Snead and Demaret. The Japanese aggregate was 557 to 566 for the Americans.

The Japanese triumph touched off a golf boom on this tight little island reminiscent of Francis Ouimet's victory over Britain's Ted Ray and Harry Vardon in the U. S. National Open, which popularized the sport in America. Today all Japan was talking of golf and their heroes of the links.

Japanese golf, as was originally the case in Britain and the United States, has been a sport only for the reasonably well-to-do. Courses are rare, memberships expensive. Public courses are almost nonexistent.

Pace said the next tournament probably would be held in South America. "We want the tournament to rotate around all the continents," he said.

The first two tournaments were held in Canada, the third in Washington, D. C., and the fourth, last year, in England.

Japan turned out a crowd of 14,000 on the final day to watch Nakamura and Ono clinch a victory after seizing the lead from America in the second round.

Snead shot rounds of 67-74-71-69 for 281, which gave him a tie for second place with young Dave Thomas of Wales and Gary Player of South Africa. Ono had 283, as did Stan Leonard of Canada. Demaret and Australia's Bruce Crampton finished with 285, and former British Open champion Peter Thomson of Australia had a 287.

Following Japan and the United States in the Canada Cup were South Africa (Player and Gary Henning) at 569; Australia (Thomson and Crampton) 572; Wales (Dai Rees and Thomas) 574, and Canada (Leonard and Al Balding), 576.

Housecleaning

Ryan, Riddle Root Canned By Braves

MILWAUKEE (AP)—In a sweeping housecleaning, the Milwaukee Braves have fired three of Manager Fred Haney's aids, only 17 days after winning the world championship.

Charley Root, Connie Ryan and Johnny Riddle were dropped Saturday. The only survivor was Bob Keely, 41, bullpen coach who has been with the Braves since 1946.

The management refused to comment on the shakeup, except to say the action was taken on a decision by Haney and General Manager John Quinn. There was no comment from the trio involved.

Whitlow Wyatt, late of the Philadelphia Phillies, was named to replace Root as pitching coach. John Fitzpatrick will take over for Riddle at first base.

The club said Ryan's successor at third base will be named later, and that brought up the names of several baseball veterans considered as possibilities.

Dressen in Picture

Among them is Charlie Dressen, who resigned Friday as assistant to Calvin Griffith of the Washington Senators. Dressen said he had received three offers to return to the diamond, one of them in a post that would lead to a manager's job in several years.

Another is former St. Louis Cardinal Manager Eddie Stanky, an old favorite of Quinn's who may follow Manager Kirby Farrell and General Manager Hank Greenberg out of Cleveland. Quinn had tried to get Stanky earlier, but he had an agreement with Greenberg.

And there are several Braves minor league managers listed in the running. They are Ben Geraghty of Wichita, Kan.; Sibby Sisti of Austin (Tex.), and Bob Coleman of Evansville (Ind.).

Ranger Trio Too Hot for Canucks

By The Associated Press

A triumvirate of New York Rangers—Camille Henry, Danny Lewicki and Gump Worsley—has handed Montreal's Canadiens their first defeat in National Hockey League play.

W. Henry and Lewicki scoring two goals each and Goalie Worsley turning aside 22 shots, the Rangers moved into second place last night with a 4-1 victory over the Canadiens. Montreal had won five, tied two.

In the only other game played, Chicago goalie Glenn Hall shut out his former Detroit teammates 3-0.

Jones Dairy Ace Fires Scores 258, 254, 268

Jerry Oster, the man most likely to lead the first bowling league organized in outer space, soared to a majestic 780 Saturday night, as Jones Dairy swept three games from Dutchess Rec on the Bowlerama drives.

Enroute to a new seasonal individual series record and one of the highest three-game strings in Hudson Valley League history, the slim dynamiter fired successive slams of 258, 254 and 268. It sparked the Dairymen to a 3051 aggregate on 1069-975-1007.

The All Star champion's blast erased from the record books the 700 rolled a week ago by Charlie Manfro and single-handedly carried the Joneses to their sweep over the arch rivals from Poughkeepsie. The victory assured Joneses of at least a three-game lead.

In other matches, Saccoman's Jewelers won the odd set from Prospect Dairies and the Five Merchants dropped a trio of heart-breakers to Charles Men Shop at Newburgh.

Aside from Oster's pyrotechnics, the scoring was only ordinary in the Jones-Dutchess duel. Jack Ferraro managed 605 with a high of 233. George Baird led the visitors with 227-666.

Battaglia Raps 671

Phil Battaglia's 671, via 201-247-223, was the difference between Saccoman's and Prospects in a rugged duel. The Jeweler's sand-wich man had a threesome of 201, 247 and 223. Charlie Manfro shot 245-615 for Prospects.

Saccoman's won the first set, 934-909. Prospects took the second, 1018-1004, with the Jewelers getting the third 959-943.

The Five Merchants had an unhappy experience on the Newburgh lanes—traditional burial grounds for Kingston kelpers—they won't forget for a while. They dropped three straight sets—913-890, 893-892, 962-959. No Kingston team has ever come so close and won so few on the Hill City drives.

Bill Brooks paced the Charles Shop with 225-169-225 for 619. Buster Ferraro anchored the Merchants with 2741.

Boston 15-Rounder

DeMarco Opens Drive For Title With Akins

The Associated Press

Tony DeMarco, the stocky little Boston slugger who held the welterweight title for two months, nine days, opens a new drive to regain the crown Tuesday night in a 15-rounder with St. Louis veteran Virgil Akins at Boston Garden.

Massachusetts has recognized the bout, which won't be telecast, as a "major championship" affair.

The major boxing groups of the world have declined to give it their blessing. They still are conferring over the composition of the field for an elimination tournament to determine the successor to graduated Carmen Basilio.

Basilio had to yield the 147-pound title when he captured the middleweight championship from Sugar Ray Robinson.

DeMarco No. 1

DeMarco won the title from Johnny Saxton on April 1, 1955, and lost it to Basilio on June 10, 1955. DeMarco, 25, is rated the No. 1 man in the division. Akins, 29, is ranked fifth by the NBA and sixth by Ring Magazine. He dropped a few notches when he was beaten in his last start by Gil Turner.

Although the NBA, New York Athletic Commission and World Championship Boxing Committee haven't come to agreement yet on the tournament field, the loser of Tuesday's fight probably will be counted out.

Another Bostonian, lightweight Tommy Tibbs, meets New York's Frankie Ippolito at New York's St. Nicholas Arena tonight. Only 23, Tibbs has had 85 pro fights. His record is 39-43-3. Ippolito, 23, has a 20-6-1 record.

Lane Risks Skein

Kenny Lane, the top-ranking lightweight contender from Muskegon, Mich., aims for his 16th straight victory Wednesday night. The bouncy southpaw faces veteran Orlando Zulueta of Cuba at the Chicago Stadium (ABC-TV, 10 p. m.).

Ole Archie Moore gets himself a tuneup and a payday at Vancouver, B. C., Thursday night. The light heavyweight king takes on heavyweight Bobby Mitchell of Omaha in a non-title ten.

Slick Spider Webb, Chicago midweight contender, mixes with Willie Vaughn of Los Angeles in the radio and television headliner (NBC 10 p. m.) at New York's Madison Square Garden Friday night. Webb has a 24-2 record compared to Vaughn's 33-16-5.

Rhea Paces All Star Keglers on 1661 Total

Poughkeepsie bowlers took down the first two spots as Dick Rhea fired 1661 and Bill McCansie had 1651 in the first round of the All Star eliminations Sunday at the Monroe bowling center.

Fred Schryver of Kingston was third with 1568. A third Poughkeepsie trundler, Bill Ranse, posted 1559. Buster Ferraro (Kingston) and Lew Visconti (Newburgh) rounded out the top group with 1556 series.

Rhea powered 1120 in his first five games of 215, 210, 226, 242 and 227. He finished off with 187-146-208. McCansie packed a 262 (highest game of the day) in the fourth set and went over the "200" mark in four games.

Buster Ferraro had high games of 214, 207 and 211 in his 1556 series. Visconti packed 222, 206 and 201.

Forty eight keglers—the largest field in the three-year history of the tournament—competed in the opening round. Other Kingston scores included: Charlie Manfro 1511, Jack Ferraro 1423, Jack Houghtaling 1552, John Bailey 1346, John Ferraro 1356, Ralph Garafola 1347, Jim Amendola 1464, Ken Joseph 1494, Chris Gallo 1533.

The second block will be rolled at the Towns Recreation (Beacon) Sunday, Nov. 3, with squads scheduled at 1 p. m., 3:30 p. m. and 6 p. m.

The first round leaders: Dick Rhea, Poughkeepsie—215, 210, 226, 242, 227, 187, 146, 208—1661.

Bill McCansie, Poughkeepsie—197, 182, 201, 262, 219, 227, 197, 172—1651.

Fred Schryver, Kingston—188, 188, 190, 162, 226, 179, 217, 218—1568.

Bill Ranse, Poughkeepsie—187, 206, 167, 183, 215, 219, 193, 189—1559.

Lew Visconti, Newburgh—174, 222, 195, 195, 174, 206, 201, 186—1556.

Buster Ferraro, Kingston—214, 169, 166, 207, 207, 211, 199, 183—1556.

Chris Gallo, Kingston—178, 205, 190, 160, 234, 178, 223, 185—1553.

Cornell Daily Gets Award for Journalism

ITHACA (AP)—The Cornell Daily Sun, a morning newspaper published at Cornell University, holds first prize among student publications in the division for colleges or universities with an enrollment of 4,000 or more.
The Sun was chosen Saturday by Pi Delta Epsilon, national college journalism fraternity.
Other New York State winners: The Colgate University Maroon, second in the 1,200 to 2,500 enrollment category; the Utica College Tangerine, second in the 600-1,200 class.
The Pioneer, yearbook of Potsdam State Teachers College, first in yearbook competition in the 600 to 1,200 enrollment class.
The Alfred, the magazine of Alfred University, best in the 600-1,200 class; Colgate's Caliper third in the 1,200-2,500 class and the Cornell Engineer third in the 2,500 and up class.

Educator Told Of Automation Training Needs

CHICAGO (AP)—American high school educators were told today that automation of industry will call for less, not more, job training in their institutions.
Devereux C. Josephs, chairman of President Eisenhower's Committee on Education Beyond the High School, which submitted its final report Saturday, said in a prepared speech:
"Invent Products"
"The young will fill many jobs that do not now exist. They will invent the products that will need new skills."
"Why take precious time to train for professions which may disappear or be modified? Many skills can be taught on the job."
Far more important in an increasing complex society, said Josephs, will be "to learn those things which will be useful to any career — our relationship to our surroundings, how to react critically, upon which can be built the capacity to learn new jobs."

Greater Cancer Risk for Heavy Drinkers, Smoker

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavy drinking plus heavy smoking equals greater risk of throat and mouth cancer, especially for pipe and cigar smokers, a cancer researcher said today.
Heavy drinking was defined as consistently taking seven or more shots of hard liquor a day.
Heavy smokers who do this run 10 times the risk of cancer of the larynx, or voicebox, and the mouth than heavy smokers who drink moderately or not at all.
The relative risk appears greater for pipe and cigar men than cigarette smokers, said Dr. Ernest L. Wynder, of the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research here.

The findings apply only to drinkers of hard liquor, he told the annual meeting of the American Cancer Society. Not enough wine and beer drinkers have been analyzed yet for conclusive data.
Wynder said he cannot tell whether alcohol alone can start the mouth and throat cancer. He hasn't enough data on heavy drinkers who aren't heavy smokers to make a comparative study.
Purely as theories, he said, alcohol might make the throat and mouth tissues more permeable to tobacco smoke, or heavy drinking might produce diet deficiencies making the tissues more susceptible to cancer-causing agents.
Lung cancer has been associated with cigarette smoking by

The magic of money lies in its ability to buy what you want when you want it. The magic is not in money's ability to accumulate without physical help. They say "Money talks" — if so, it must be saying, "Savers win ... dreamers lose; Take me to the bank each pay day. Be a winner."
